Political Bosses on Job From Coast to Coast Giving Possibilities 'Once Over.'

WILSON REMAINS SILENT

Situation Is Puzzling With Scores of Convention Delegates Unpledged.

Special to The Sunday News from The Washington Star.)

WASHINGTON.—Now that the preferential primaries are about over without any pronounced preference for President having been indicated in either party, the "practical" politicians are coming into their own. The weeks intervening between now and the convening of the conventions will be a period of trading and dickering and playing for position.

Dispatches to The Star from its political correspondents, to be published tomorrow, indicate that the political chiefs and subchiefs already are on the job in states all the way across the continent. With the great body of delegates to both conventions uncommitted and unpledged there is such an opportunity for display of the "fine Italian hand" as has not before been afforded politicians of the present generation. From now on it is going to be a difficult matter to get at the real inside of the political situation.

In the republican camp two factors stand out prominently. One is that Gen. Wood remains the man the rest will have to beat, and the other is that Senator Hiram Johnson, who was given encouragement by the big party leaders for the purpose of heading off Wood, now has a following that makes him formidable and assures that he is a convention factor that will have to be reckoned with. But the best informed opinion not only in Washington, but throughout the country, judging by the tenor of The Star's dispatches is that neither Wood nor Johnson will be the nominee. Bets are being placed on one or two of the lesser candidates, but the belief is very deeply grounded that some dark horse is going to come under the wire a winner.

In a general survey of the field, N. O. Messenger, The Star's political specialist, sizes up the situation as follows:

"Looking over the results of the primaries and state and district conventions the political wisecracks are figuring on the evidenced strength of the aspirants for the republican presidential nomination. They calculate Gen. Wood to have an upstotal at this time of about 275, including instructed and favorably inclined delegates. To Senator Johnson they give about 100 instructed, and to Gov. Lowden about the same number, instructed. The Lowden forces will not disclose their own figures of delegates they claim to have 'up their sleeves'."

"The conclusion drawn from this calculation is that it proves that no candidate has on the face of the return a commanding pre-convention strength, and, moreover, that no to of them with combined forces would present a majority of the convention. A bare majority of the convention, necessary to nominate is 432."

"In the cold judgment of neutral republicans Gov. Lowden at this time holds the strongest tactical position. It is not impregnable, however, by any means. In the opinion of these men neither Gen. Wood nor Senator Johnson can get the nomination and future changes must naturally be to the benefit of the Illinois governor. Moreover the interest of prominent republican leaders throughout the country in Gov. Lowden's candidacy, is taken into consideration and classed as a practical asset of value. But he is not yet the prophetic nominee of the party."

A little while ago it was believed that a situation such as now exists would be extremely favorable to the "chances of Senator Harding, but the party managers are not at the moment figuring the Ohio senator in their plans. Whether he will "come back" later on remains to be seen, but the chances would seem to be against it. A dispatch from Columbus quotes Harry M. Daugherty, Harding manager as being extremely well satisfied with the situation, not only in Ohio, but throughout the country, but this is not taken with entire seriousness. Belief is strong in Ohio the correspondent says, that before the Chicago convention comes Harding will announce himself as a candidate for re-election to the Senate. Senatorial candidates have until June 11 to file their declarations and so far no Ohio republican has entered for Harding's seat but it is waited too long he is likely to be the field prospect."

Hoover, who not long ago was a mainstay to the republican managers, no longer is reckoned a possibility.

U. S. MARINES ORDERED TO KEY WEST

AMERICANS WILL BE GUARDED IN MEXICAN REVOLT

Fighters to Invade Mexico Only in Event That Yankees Are in Peril.

DESTROYERS HAVE ARRIVED

Secretary of War Daniels Unable to Get in Touch With Embassy in Mexico City.

WASHINGTON.—American marines have been ordered to Key West, Fla., for action in Mexico, should revolutionary developments there require it. Secretary Daniels made this announcement late Saturday adding that the transport Henderson is en route from Charleston, C. C., to Philadelphia, where the force of 1,100 marines will go aboard for the voyage to Key West.

These troops would be landed on the Mexican coast only in the event that American citizens were in peril.

When Daniels made his announcement the government by naval radio was trying to get in touch with the United States embassy in Mexico City from which no word has come since Thursday night. The land wires have been cut by the rebels, and therefore, the government had no confirmation or denial of the report that revolutionists had captured the capital.

Shortly before Daniels had announced the orders for dispatch of the marines, the navy department was advised that five of the divisions of six United States destroyers ordered to Key West for possible duty off the east coast of Mexico, arrived at their destination Saturday morning.

The marines will augment the division of destroyers at Key West making a formidable force to be used in any crisis in Mexico that puts in jeopardy lives of American citizens or endangers property of American citizens of that country.

Daniels said the marines are ready for Mexican duty should it be found necessary on their arrival at Key West.

The marines for Key West duty will come from League Island station, Philadelphia, and from Quantico, Va.

FARMERS SUFFER LOSSES IN APRIL

Wet Weather and Soil Causes Heavy Deficit to Ohio Agriculturists.

COLUMBUS.—"A loss of over 7,000,000 days' work in the fields was suffered by Ohio farmers in April, due to wet weather and wet soil conditions," says a statement out Saturday, by N. E. Shaw, secretary of agriculture.

"The returns from several thousand of our official crop correspondents, indicate that on the average, the farmers of the state were kept from work in the fields for nearly 20 days, the average ranging from 13 days in the southeast counties to 22 days in the north central counties," the statement continued. "Thousands of farmers were able to work in the fields but two or three days during the entire month. Estimating three men to farms with 250,000 farms in the state of over ten acres each, we get the astounding total just mentioned. If expressed in acres of crops that the farmers of the state failed to get planted during April or in the financial loss involved, the results would be little short of startling."

The percentage of plowing completed to May 1, for spring planting and seeding is estimated at 44 percent, compared to 79 per cent a year ago, 80 per cent in 1918 and a ten-year average of 68 per cent. The percentage of spring planting and seeding completed by May 1, is estimated at 29 per cent, compared to 52 per cent in 1919, 64 per cent in 1918 and a ten-year average of 41 per cent.

MISS BLANK KILL. Miss Bernice Blank, employe of the telephone office, became ill while at work Saturday. She was moved to her home, 108 1-2 W. Main, in the Williams and Davis building.

WARD WILL WITHDRAW SUIT FOR HEART BALM

Return of Mrs. Stella Ward to the home of her husband, Arthur Ward, has done away with the alleged domestic trouble which has been in that household, according to ward. He announced Saturday he would withdraw the suit for $5,000 which he filed Wednesday against his wife's step-father, Frank Greek, charging he alienated the affections of his wife. He said he had discovered there was no reason for action.

Ward, in his court action Wednesday, charged Greek visited his wife and gave her presents, money and advice, inducing her to leave him and avoid his society.

AMERICAN TELLS RUTHLESSNESS OF TURKISH MURDERS

Commissioner for Relief in the Near East Escapes After Hundreds Are Killed.

TRIBESMEN AMBUSH FRENCH

General Woodward Witnesses Massacre of Wounded Soldiers on Battlefield.

ALEPPO, Syria.—The slaughter of the little French garrison which evacuated Uria on a promise of safe conduct by the Turkish Nationalist troops after the town had been besieged for sixty-one days, is described in the diary of General Woodward, accountant for the American Commission for Relief in the Near East, who was an eye witness to the massacre. He escaped and returned to Uria after several hundred French soldiers had been killed or made prisoners by tribesmen.

The French were ambushed by the tribesmen in violation of an agreement by Namik Effendi, who came from Angora as the Turkish Nationalist government's representative, the diary says, and promised the Frenchmen safe conduct if they would evacuate. At that time the French had only four days ration left, and had eaten all their horses and mules, and evacuation was considered inevitable, as the garrison was greatly outnumbered by the enemy.

General Woodward says that he saw the Turks killing the French wounded in the field, and that he and an officer of the gendarmerie saw prisoners killed by the Turks after they had surrendered.

"Namik Effendi agreed to protect the Christian population, provided a guard of gendarmerie, and a transport of sixty camels and thirty horses of the French would leave," the diary says. "The garrison evacuated at 1:30 o'clock in the morning."

We were suddenly attacked from the rear and from a column spaced at regular intervals. The order was given to depart and this was carried out into the hills occupied by the enemy who almost surrounded us.

The attack lasted for two hours, the Turks having two thousand irregular troops and one machine gun. They made a special target of our transport, doubtless for plunder. As the firing increased, other tribes joined in the attack. Our rear guard was caught in a trap from which few escaped alive.

"With the transport destroyed, the rear guard cut off and our line of defense broken, we could only surrender and an officer of gendarmerie was sent with a white flag."

MURDERER ASKS LIFE SENTENCE

"Bluebeard" Wants Leniency Shown After Confessing to Killing Six Wives.

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—In a final attempt to avoid a death sentence for the murder of Nina Lee Delaney, one of the 26 women he admits he married, "Bluebeard" Charles N. Harvey Saturday night was trying to drive a bargain with state prosecutors.

Harvey, it was said, is willing to trade his knowledge of other murdered "wives" for a life imprisonment sentence. He has already confessed killing six.

District Attorney Woolwine, who obtained Harvey's confession to the murder of Miss Delaney by agreeing to obtain leniency for him, says public opinion is demanding the "Bluebeard's" death. Woolwine, plans however, to seek life imprisonment and in addition, gain from Harvey more facts about his other wives.

HUNGER STRIKERS JAILED

CORK.—Thirty-two hunger strikers remaining in jail here were released Saturday. Six still held in the workhouse, are in a weakened condition.

CRUSH POLES, IS BATTLE CRY OF SOVIET RUSSIA

More Than 120,000 Fighting Men Leave Moscow for The Dnieper.

UKRAINE CITY CAPTURED

Polish Offensive Has Been Slowed Up Considerably Past Week.

LONDON.—The Russian soviet government has started vast reparations to stem the successful Polish advance in the Ukraine, wireless dispatches from the Moscow war office Saturday night, said:

"The whole of Russia is rising to fight the Poles," an official Moscow communique declared. "Thursday more than 120,000 men left Moscow for the Dnieper."

The Russians Saturday admitted the capture of Kieff, capital of the Ukraine, and its most important city by the combined Polish-Ukrainian forces. The soviet forces retreated from the city Thursday. Advice here Saturday indicated the red troops were generally cleared from the territory west of the Dnieper over a front of nearly 400 miles, extending from Mohilev on the north to Ekaterinoslav on the south.

Mohilev was reported in the hands of the Poles while Ekaterinoslav and Elizabetgrad were held by Ukrainian troops under command of General Petlura and Pavlenko. These forces were endeavoring to effect a junction with the Polish-Ukrainian troops under General Pildski to the northwest.

The Polish offensive has been slowed up considerably during the past week. The Polish statement covering last Monday's operations reported capture of the railway station at Fastoff, about 40 miles southwest of Kieff. Cavalry patrols were reported to have advanced to points near the outskirts of Kieff.

The fact that the city was not taken until Thursday was taken to mean that the soviet troops offered bitter resistance.

The Poles in the operations up to the middle of this week claimed capture of more than 25,000 prisoners, 120 guns and 413 machine guns.

BORAH FAVORITE OF REPUBLICANS

Senator Beveridge's Chances of Being Permanent Chairman of Convention Are Reduced.

WASHINGTON.—Senator Beveridge's chances of being permanent chairman of the Republican national convention at Chicago have materially reduced by the attitude of some prominent progressive Republicans, who prefer Senator Borah for the place, it was learned Saturday night.

The Senator Johnson, of California, the progressive leader and candidate for president, has declined to state publicly his position on the chairmanship, it is known he would rather have Borah deliver the keynote speech when the convention gets into permanent organization.

Johnson's feelings in this respect are said to be shared by other progressives who are willing, however, to support Beveridge if Borah can't get the chairmanship.

Beveridge's position on the treaty issue suits the senate irreconcilables who are Johnson's chief supporters. But Beveridge's long retirement from active politics causes him to be regarded as less fitted to sound the progressive keynote than Borah.

Borah, on the other hand, is in the midst of a campaign of "plutless publicity" with respect to campaign expenditures. In the popular mind, this campaign apparently is regarded as being primarily directed with this inquiry, he is hardly the man to deliver a keynote address. He fears he might be regarded as too friendly to one and too hostile to another.

The old guard leaders who had agreed that the progressive wing of the party be allowed to name the permanent chairman, have begun to hint that if the progressives can't agree on somebody, it may be necessary to make Senator Lodge both temporary and permanent chairman.

SPECIAL PICTURE BOOKED

An unusual photodrama, "The Secret Garden" is being brought to Lima to be present at the Central high school auditorium Friday evening under the auspices of Principal O'Connell of Central high school. The picture is a dramatization of the book written by Frances Hobson, daughter of the same name.

CARRANZA REPORTED CAPTURED

KILLS HUSBAND

Illinois Woman Says She Practiced With Revolver to Shoot Mate

ELGIN, Ill.—Stoically reciting how she purchased an automatic revolver and practiced with it until she was able to shoot "tolerably straight," Mrs. Henry C. Fredericks Saturday detailed to a coroner's jury how she murdered her husband, secretary of the Elgin Granite Works early Saturday.

Mrs. Fredericks shot her husband seven times. She then notified the police. She was ordered held to the grand jury.

While visiting her mother, Mrs. Fredericks intercepted an alleged letter to her husband from another woman, which, she said, prompted the shooting.

2 LABOR LEADERS KEPT FROM MEET

John Fitzpatrick and J. Brown Denied Admission to Metal Workers Annual Convention.

SCRANTON, Pa.—John Fitzpatrick and J. Brown, both of Chicago, chairman and secretary of the organizing committee, which directed the recent steel strike, were denied admission to the 45th annual convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America here Saturday.

Fitzpatrick and Brown were returning to the west from Washington and had made formal request to appear before the convention which has been in session here several days. The workmen voted refusal feeling this is no time for them to address the convention.

ANOTHER 'SOVIET ARK' TO DEPART WITH REDS SOON

WASHINGTON.—Another "soviet ark" loaded with radical aliens, will be started on its way to Russia shortly according to information given the house appropriations committee by Anthony Caminetti, director general of immigration.

About 500 aliens are now awaiting deportation and most of them are Russians. Plans are rapidly being completed, it was learned, for sending a large ship load to Odessa or some other point on the Black Sea.

ONE KILLED; 28 WOUNDED

ROME.—After a meeting in the Piazza Vittorio Emanuele for the purpose of discussing the Viareggio riots, police fired into the crowd, killing one and wounding 28. A general strike was subsequently called.

CARRANZA TAKEN BY REBEL FORCE, DISPATCHES SAY

Surrender of Carranzista Troops Claimed in Reports From Revolutionary Headquarters.

REVOLTING CITIES CELEBRATE

Federal Defensive Was Defeated on All Sides During Day, Advices Indicate.

NOGALES, Ariz.—President Carranza was taken prisoner when revolutionary forces captured Mexico City Saturday according to an unconfirmed report received here Saturday night, by Oregon advices.

The message was dated Mexico City and came via Chihuahua and Hermosillo.

EL PASO.—Mexico City was successfully held by forces under General Obregon Saturday, according to rebel headquarters here Saturday night.

Reports of the fall of the Mexican capital were received here Saturday from Chihuahua City. General Elias Calleja, commander of the rebels, made the announcement also at Agua Calientes. The advices said that Carranza had petitioned for an armistice.

Details of the fall of the city were awaited here Saturday night. Early advices did not state whether the attackers encountered resistance. They reported an army under General Benjamin Hill had entered the suburbs of Mexico City. General Hill's forces acted with an army under General Pablo Gonzalez in the attack, reports here Saturday night said.

Rebels claimed the surrender of Carranzista troops, according to reports received from the capital early Saturday. Juarez accepted the reported fall without question. A celebration followed the announcement. Citizens and the Juarez garrison paraded the streets. A military band led the celebration. American authorities here Saturday night credited the fall of Mexico City. They had received no official advices.

The Carranza administration was defeated on all sides during the day, reports here indicated. Following announcement that President Carranza had fled to Vera Cruz, advices here declared General Manuel Diaz, Cessario Castro and J. Austin Castro joined the Obregonists. Castillo in Carranza's home state of Coahuila, went over to the rebels during the day, advices said. Zacatecas, Aguas Calientes, Torreon, and Oaxaca also were said to be in rebel hands.

The garrison at Nuevo Laredo Saturday night was threatening revolt. General Renaldo Garcia, commander, declared he might not be able to prevent the defection another day. Revolutionists were reported massing near Nuevo Laredo for an attack. Portions of General Osuna's command have arrived to reinforce the garrison.

AMERICAN NAVY LARGEST IN WAR

Admiral Benson Continues Testimony Before Senate Naval Investigating Committee.

WASHINGTON.—The American navy had the largest personnel in the world at the armistice. Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations, during the war, told the senate naval investigating committee Saturday.

"No navy ever expanded so rapidly as did ours after we declared war," Benson declared.

"When the armistice was signed, we had 500,000 officers and men, more than the British. It is recognized we had the largest navy power the world has ever seen."

Admiral Benson did not elaborate this statement.

The French naval attaché once complained that Benson was too partial toward the British, the witness said, the only criticism he recalled from the allies.

MRS. AUSTIN'S MOTHER DEAD. Friends of Mrs. Ralph Austin, 114 N. Collett-st., will be grieved to learn of the death of her mother, Mrs. Samuel Turner, in Hamilton, Ontario. She has been in ill health some time and Mrs. Austin has been in Canada the past month at her bedside. Death occurred Saturday afternoon. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

All Who Believe They Could Be Actresses Asked to Enter.

The contest connected with the showing of "Everywoman" at the Faurot this week is proving one of the most interesting and successful contests ever undertaken. It's a very easy matter for any young woman to enter this contest, as the only requisite is that they send the Dramatic Editor a photo (several is desired) attaching thereto name and address, as all photographs will be returned to the owners immediately after the contest closes, Tuesday evening. The main reason for the contest is to see who in Lima or vicinity best resembles Youth, Beauty and Modesty as portrayed in the production, "Everywoman." Wanda Hawley is Beauty, Margaret Loomis is Modesty and Clara Horton is Youth in the pictures.

The winners of this unique contest will be entertained at the Faurot theatre Wednesday evening with a party to which they may invite their intimate friends. But that isn't all. They will be formally presented to the audience from the Faurot stage at the Wednesday evening showing of the picture, for the entire city is interested in the outcome of the contest and will want to know the three winners. The time is not very long, only until Tuesday evening, so hurry up, girls, pick out your very best photo or photos, send to the Dramatic Editor of the News and Times-Democrat, and you will have every chance in the world to become known as the personification of Youth, Beauty or Modesty.

STUDENT MAY START NO-COLLAR FAD HERE

Will the students of Lima high schools ban the white, stiff collar as their way of bringing down the high cost of living?

Raymond Lyle, senior student of Central high school, started the fad last week when he attended school with neither collar nor tie.

The idea did not meet any criticism from the teachers.

According to Lyle, "It is by far more comfortable than wearing a collar during these hot summer days. Besides just look at the laundry bill I will save every month."

The student makes a neat appearance in the new fad it is said. By turning under the collar band he virtually makes a sport out of it.

As yet the idea has not received the popular approval of all the pupils. However many have substituted the blue chambray and calico shirts for the more expensive haberdashery.

LODGE NOTICES

Lima Lodge No. 531 I. O. O. F. meet every Tuesday evening. Visiting brothers welcome.

Regular meeting of the Ft. Amanda Encampment No. 262 I. O. O. F. next Monday evening. There will be work in Patriotic Degree for twenty candidates. Refreshments will be served.

CANDIDACY FOR CONGRESS IS ANNOUNCED BY CABLE

Prosecutor John L. Cable yesterday officially announced his candidacy on the Republican ticket for the nomination for congress from the fourth district.

He said last night he had made a survey of the district and expects to make a strong race. Cable has been prosecutor of Allen for two terms.

DIDN'T HURT JOHNSON

Walter Johnson was "beaten" recently, but it did not seem to injure him seriously despite the fact he was unconscious for nearly a half hour. Maurice Shannon in attempting to throw to first base hit Johnson, who was in the pitcher's box, just behind the car. Walter dropped as though he was shot. When he was revived he insisted upon finishing the game and he further proved he was all right by fanning the next two men who faced him.

THIEVES DISCARD TAGS

Police reported Saturday night license tags from Ford touring car reported by S. B. Ernst 778 S. Elizabeth-st. as stolen from the circus ground Friday evening had been located six miles east of Lima on the Findlay road. An overcoat and two rones left in the machine by Ernst were discarded by the thieves at the same place. The car was a 1917 model, according to police and bore 1920 license tag No. 288182.

HARD ON JOCKEYS.

The race meeting now in session at the Pimlico track in Maryland has broken all records for disciplinary measures being meted out to keep the sport clean. Several of the leading jockeys have been called to account for careless work and a couple of them suspended during the meeting. It is hinted there may be some scandal develop in connection with some of the long shots.

WISCONSIN IS STRONG FOR COX

Lima Man Finds Majority of Badger State Delegates Are for Ohioan.

Upon his arrival at his home here from Milwaukee, Wis., where he spent part of the week, with Judge David L. Rockwell, F. W. Durbin stated that it is assured that Governor Cox will have the support of a majority of the Wisconsin delegation in the national Democratic convention at San Francisco, as a candidate for the presidency.

Governor Cox has made several addresses in Wisconsin cities, his clearness of vision and his forward looking ideas which assure that as president he will be able to meet conditions and apply the right sort of leadership, making excellent impression with the people of that state and as a consequence his candidacy for the presidency has elicited the aid of the leaders in the badger state.

Mr. Durbin is greatly pleased over the situation in Wisconsin. "We have assurances," said Mr. Durbin, "that a majority of the Wisconsin vote will be cast in favor of the governor at San Francisco. The manner in which the Ohio candidate is attracting men to him indicates that ere the opening of the convention he will have pledged a sufficient number of votes to assure his nomination—perhaps not on the first ballot, but eventually."

The Governor now has the support of men up in the councils of the Democratic party in every state in the union and his chances for preferment in the national convention grow with the day. His star is in the ascendancy constantly.

GROH DENIES

Heinie Groh, of the Cincinnati Reds, is making use of every opportunity to deny the story sent out from Redlands last winter that his wife would not permit him to sign a Cincinnati contract unless it called for a stipulated amount of pay.

Groh says it was a shame to drag his wife into the matter when she had absolutely nothing to do with it. He explains that his wife was merely relating his attitude on the salary question to a friend one day, when the conversation was carried to a newspaper man who printed the yarn without investigation.

DOWN ON BIDDLE.

The "cold guard" in the boxing game in New York state is raising a rumpus because Anthony Drexel is "butting in" on the sport there since the Walker bill was passed. Biddle has been dubbed "an outsider" although he was one of the promoters of The International Sporting Club.

ROTHLISBERGER WILL

By the terms of the will of Mrs. Elizabeth Rothlisberger, late of Elkhart, deceased, probated Saturday, all her property is given to her granddaughter, Miss Ruth Kay, Alta-apls, Lima.

POLITICIANS ARE BUSY PLANNING SHARE IN RACE

While the Hoover boom refuses to stay as dead as Johnson's overwhelming victory in the California primary would seem naturally to have rendered it. A dispatch from Boston says the Hoover enthusiasts refuse to be discouraged and continue to make efforts to line up the Massachusetts delegation for the former food administrator. But one of the troubles with the Hoover boom all along has been that most of the Hoover boomers were amateurs at the game of practical politics, and amateurs are not as apt as professionals to know when they are licked.

Going across the continent to find similar conditions, a dispatch from Sacramento says the size of Johnson's stunning plurality in the California primary is attributed in no small degree to the amateurishness of the Hoover management. The men at the head of the Hoover movement simply didn't know the game, while the Johnson managers were experts, who got every possible Johnson vote to the polls. The correspondent expresses belief that Hoover is the strong second choice of California republicans, and that, with either he or Johnson as the nominee, California's electoral vote could be counted certainly in the republican column.

There has been a tendency to take the New York situation as a basis for proclaiming that President Wilson had lost his hold on the party generally, but this is not borne out by recent developments in other states. In Texas and elsewhere where a democratic faction has set itself up in opposition to the administration the administration has invariably come out triumphant, and with the exception of Gov. Cox of Ohio, the only two democratic possibilities who seem to be attracting any attention are McAdoo and Palmer, both assumed to be acceptable to Mr. Wilson. While Gov. Cox has not been recognized an administration candidate, he has been at pains not to take any anti-administration stand and there is no warrant for assuming that any part of his rapidly growing strength is due to belief that he would be unacceptable to the president.

Lining up of the New York democratic delegation back of Gov. Smith presents a situation equally as curious as exists among Empire state republicans. The case of the democrats differs in that former Secretary McAdoo as a presidential possibility occupies a very prominent position in party reckoning elsewhere, and should the delegation from his home state get behind him he would be a hard man to beat at San Francisco. The reason the New York delegation is likely to vote for Smith instead of McAdoo is not that McAdoo himself is unpopular at home, but because he is regarded as too close to President Wilson. The New York democracy apparently has made up its mind not to accept any man the White House might be suspected of favoring

How the practical politicians are playing the game is evidenced by a dispatch from Albany, which says that the democratic delegation to San Francisco is planning to present Gov. Alfred E. Smith as the Empire state's candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, while there is a strong drift among Republicans in favor of presenting the name of former Senator Elihu Root at Chicago. Gov. Smith himself laughs at the notion of his becoming a presidential candidate, while Mr. Root is seventy years of age and it is not believed he would accept the nomination. But by voting for "favorite sons" on the early ballots both the Democratic and Republican delegations from New York would be in positions of tactical advantage. The same advantage would accrue to the Republican delegation, of course, if it voted for Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, who has, or had, a presidential boom; but Dr. Butler and his boom apparently have been lost in the shuffle.

So the democratic situation remains as it has continued week after week. President Wilson has not spoken, and until he does speak the great body of active party workers are not going to commit themselves to this man or that.

NOW SUPPORT CHANGED

Devoral Kemp, 6, molder, S. Central-ave, was arrested at 7.45 Saturday evening by Officers Kipper and Crisberry on a charge of non-support. He is being held for trial in a justice court.

POLICE ASKED TO LOOK FOR STOLEN AUTOMOBILE

Lima police received notice Saturday night from Toledo of the theft of a 1917 model Paige touring car. The car was described as having green body, black wheels and bearing 1920 license tag 144194.

A touring car reported stolen from the Haworth-McCoy Motor Co. from High and Elizabeth-ave at 10 o'clock Saturday night was recovered on Elizabeth-ave a short time after the loss was reported to the police.

LEGION POST ENDORSES SALVATION ARMY

At a meeting of William J. Gallagher Post of the American Legion, last night, the members unanimously endorsed the campaign of the Salvation Army to raise funds to carry on its splendid work.

"This post takes this action," reads a resolution adopted, "out of appreciation of and gratitude for the efficient and unselfish work of the Salvation Army on the battlefields and in the camps during the world war; that we urge the people of Allen-co to give them everything they ask for, and more."

Our assortment of Spring Coats, Suits, Dresses, Skirts, Children's apparel, etc., consists of the best styles and newest fabrics offered this season. We have never attempted such a sale as this in the very height of the season. The values are truly extraordinary.

We will permit layaways during sale—a deposit of 25% of the purchase price will hold any merchandise for a period of 30 days—however exchanges will not be permitted.

Frankly we feel that the time has come when some action should be taken against rapidly advancing prices—Every indication points to even higher prices—mills and manufacturers are offering merchandise for Fall and next Spring at prices far in advance of today's market—in face of these unusual conditions—and with only the thought of offering an extraordinary service to our patrons, we will throw our entire stock of well selected and well purchased merchandise on the market at radically reduced prices—

At this particular moment when the highest financial authorities point out the probability of still higher prices, we believe that we have an incumbent duty to at least try to do something for our good customers to help them bear the excessive burdens of the hour—

Therefore, with but one reason only, that of a conscientious sense of duty, we place at the disposal of the public for one week, beginning tomorrow, Monday, and lasting throughout the week—that has been bought for cash—not selecting a few articles here and there at lowered prices at the end of a fashion season which is usual, but by offering everything from end to end, and from top to bottom (excepting, certain nationally advertised lines) with restrictions we cannot honorably change, namely—"Pictorial Patterns"—"Premier Cleaners"—"Hot-Point Electrical Devices"—"Window Shades"—etc.

THE POLICY OF "THE GREGG STORE"

Twenty years ago, R. T. Gregg & Co. began serving the people of Lima and her sister surroundings with merchandise of good worth, always on the alert to procure only such merchandise which we felt certain would fill the needs of our clients in a most satisfactory way, never deviating from the principle that guided us from the first—trustworthy goods, well chosen and justly priced.

It has also been the policy of this store, never to mark up over-values on tickets to create markdowns, and we never will.

THE MERCHANDISE WE OFFER YOU

Only Highest Quality, New, Stocks, are offered in this Great Festival of Value-giving—No old Goods, no Poor Grades of merchandise will be found anywhere throughout this store.

In all our years we never had a finer or larger stock—never been so much prospered with large sales—never been so strongly equipped from every point of view as we are today to conduct such an operation, which is wholly for the benefit of the public.

CANDIDATES FOR CONGRESS COMING INTO LIMELIGHT

Political Bee Is Stinging Them In Various Counties of the District

CABLE STRONG IN AUGLAIZE

Leaders of Old Parties Happy As Heat of Primary Battle Is Dissipated

(By J. W. FISHER) that possibility of any "feeling" that may have been engendered as a result of contests for position as delegates to the national conventions, has been eliminated as the dew before the morning sun and the hosts in both the old parties are "feeling" fine and fit as the clouds of contention have been removed from the horizon to Frisco for Governor Cox, while the Republicans have divided the sum total of their support between Harding and Wood, with the former getting by far the larger part of the delegates. Leaders of both the old parties are happy. J. F. Good, Democrat and James W. Halfhill, Republican, both of Allen county, will head the pairs of delegates to the national conventions from the fourth congressional district.

Symptoms that obtained for a week or more, indicating that Dwight W. Matchette of the Wapakoneta Daily News and Frank Snyder of the China Standard might "lock horns" in a death struggle editorially have been dissipated. For a true picture has been called. Not relinquishing the manner in which the Standard "framed up" in the recent contest for the selection of delegates to the national Democratic convention, Matchette staged a few editorial jabs for the benefit of the China conservator of things Democratic, while Snyder desisted from participation in a jubilee over the success of the court house bond vote a sufficient length of time to acquire of the Wapakoneta editor where he got that "kick" "Reverend Queen" and to ask what sort of brew Dwight keeps in his office locker. Matchette and Snyder are "old heads" at the political game and are usually in accord. It will require something more than a "brush" to separate them altogether.

No more severe blow could have been struck at the candidacy of Warren G. Harding for the Republican nomination of president of the United States than the defeat of his campaign manager as a candidate for delegate at large from Ohio, put the "eleaser" on "dangerous" ground. Harding's "man Friday" This event and the fact that Harding was unable to rop off the entire delegation from the congressional districts gave rise to the report that Harding would withdraw from the race. However, this was quickly denied by the Marlon man. It must be admitted that Harding's chances have been weakened. It was simply a case of too much Daugherty. Wood's victory in Indiana and Maryland, and Johnson's growing strength comprise a team of nightmares that is resulting in Harding and his backers losing sleep o' nights. Summing up the situation to date, it would appear to old heads in the political game that the real fight in Chicago is going to be between Wood and Johnson. The folks over in Auglaize-co do not believe in permitting grass to grow so rapidly and so rank as to obstruct political progress, and they're losing no time in letting it be known that there's such a thing still on earth as politics. Auglaize counties take their politics in something larger than homoeopathic doses and are up and at 'em all this time, never letting up. Immediately after one campaign has come to a close they start another. The candidates are lining up, on the Democratic side, despite the assurance that have emanated from the Republican stronghold that this year the Democrats have no chance. Judge F. C. Layton, who has had two terms of six years each as common pleas judge, wants to stay another six years and is announced. However, R. B. Anderson, Wapakoneta attorney and Leonard Hirsch, member of the bar from St. Marys, will also try for the nomination. Deputy Clerk of the Probate court Oscar Johnson of Wapakoneta and Ferd Bailey of Clayton-town are announced as candidates for county treasurer to succeed Thos. Marshall, while Guy Campbell for commissioner, C. A. Koehl for recorder, John J. Kenney for clerk and Lewis Stout for prosecuting attorney are seeking second terms. For sheriff, to succeed Ora L. Hinton his deputy and former sheriff William Lear is coming. Jacob Schragle, defeated by Hinton four years ago for the Democratic nomination, is also "set" for another try. Probate Judge H. S. Vaubel hasn't said so, but it's quite likely he'll come again. The judge is filling an unexpired term occasioned by the death of the former incumbent, Judge J. C. Crider. The Republican end of it is yet to be heard from, in Auglaize county.

J. A. Meckstroth of Columbus, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meckstroth of New Knoxville, Auglaize-co, is engaged as director of publicity for James M. Cox campaign for nomination as president. Mr. Meckstroth was formerly on the Ohio State Journal as a political writer and doing legislative reporting.

The death of John F. Campbell for many years one of the substantial and representative citizens of Turtle Creek township in Shelby-co, removes from life one of the most persistent and unique political partisanship in the state. Mr. Campbell was an uncompromising Democrat but ever aspired to office beyond trustee of his township. He was a large land owner.

LOUISVILLE Ky.—Paul Jones, an outsider, owned by Captain Ral Parr, of Baltimore won the 46th Kentucky derby leading home a band of 17, one of the largest fields that ever started in the race.

Second to him was Upset, one of the hopes of Harry Payne Whitney's stable, while in third place came On Watch, one of the entries of George W. Loft of New York.

In fourth place came Whitney Damask and fifth was Donnacoma, one of the advance favorites for the race and the Loft chief reliance.

One more the east triumphed in the Kentucky classic.

In a way the race was a repetition of last year, when Sir Barton won for Commander Ross, beating Billy Kelly with which Ross had expected to win. This year Captain Parr had expected to win with Blazes, but sent Paul Jones to the post also. Paul Jones won while the best Blazes could was sixth.

CLOSE AT FINISH

It was a terrific finish between Paul Jones and Upset as they drove thru the stretch to the wire four lengths ahead of On Watch urging their mounts to the last nerve plying whip and ridin hand and knee to win one of the turf's most cherished prizes Jockey T. Rice on Paul Jones and Rodriguez, on Upset staged one of the greatest finishes the derby had known, rivaling that gained on Paul Jones. The Whitney champions cheered madly as they thought they saw victory for their stable, but Paul Jones had enough left to win by a head.

The time 2:03 was only fair, as the track had dried out and was fast. Despite the fact that Paul Jones and Blazes were coupled in the betting, the Parr entry paid $34.40 to win, equal to $17.20 to 1.

After the finish, Governor Morrow placed the floral wreaths with which the derby winner and jockey are crowned upon the necks of Paul Jones and Jockey Rice.

Paul Jones is a brown gelding, son of Sea King out of May Florence. He had a most creditable turf record, having won six races out of his last 14 starts with three seconds and two thirds to his credit.

Upset (Whitney entry) $8.20 place $4.10 show.

On Watch (Loft entry) $4.60 show.

Staggering along behind them having done their best, came the other 15 of the gallant band of 3 year-olds that had paraded proudly to the post a few moments before.

Paul Jones led from start to finish. He got off in the lead and was pushed along by Rice. Those watching the race waited for him to crack, but he held steadily on. Upset was well up all the way and made his run in the stretch. He came with a great burst of speed and steadily

OPINION DIFFERS AS TO BEST TIME FOR BOND VOTE

River and County Bridge Improvements May Not Come Up Till November.

CITY PAYS MOST OF TAXES

Believed That Bonds to Protect Property From Flood Will Win Next Time Up.

"I have been conducting a little investigation relative to the result of the recent election on the question of issuing city and county bonds for improvement purposes," said F. E. Harman Saturday, "and I am convinced that the best way to insure the success of the proposition to issue and sell $155,000 bonds of the city for river retaining wall purposes and $165,000 county bonds for new bridges at Bellefontaine-ave, Kirby and High-ave, is to defer the next submission of the questions until the November election.

"My reason for this position is simple: There is indifference on the part of the voters in a primary election, only a small proportion of the voters visiting the polls. In a regular election somewhere near the full vote is gotten out and the result is a fair reflection of the desires of the people. It is my impression that those who are opposed to a proposition never lose an opportunity to register their will against it, whereas those who favor it or are indifferent are not so prone to vote. In a regular election there is greater incentive for most every voter to visit the polls, and particularly so in presidential year," said Mr. Harman.

Anxious that the river retaining wall and county bridge bond propositions should prevail as quickly as possible, Mr. Harman suggests that before another vote is taken that the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, the Merchants Association, the Manufacturers Board, the Chamber of Commerce and various other organizations do something more than merely endorse the propositions; that committees of the organizations be named and a campaign of education on the necessity of the bond issues be made among the voters, particularly among those in the county outside of Lima, on the bridge bonds.

The 1919 tax duplicate shows the taxable valuation of Allen-co. was $109,658.80. The city's valuation was $45,702.60 and that of the remainder of the county $63,956.20. Taxes assessed on this valuation was $1,557,028.32. Of this amount Lima paid $740,402.54, while the remainder of the county paid $816,625.78. Thus it is seen that Lima is paying the bigger part of the taxes of the entire county, and after the completion of the reappraisal that has been endorsed by local organizations and which will be made, the Lima valuation will be a doubt exceed that of the remainder of the county.

In the vote on county bridge bonds, April 27, Lima voters favored the expenditure, but the proposition was given a knockout by the remainder of the county. Farmers who voted against the bonds probably did not consider that it is to their interest to have bridges over the Ottawa river, as much as it is to the interest of the people of Lima. There is little doubt but that the bond propositions will carry on the occasion of a reappraisal it is believed.

"It is my impression," said Mayor Sprickard, "that a small vote is more favorable to bond propositions, if one takes that view of the situation in the matter of friends and foes of the matter in hand remaining away from the polls, thru lack of interest or otherwise. That there was an organized assault made on the bond issues that were defeated in the April primary is apparent. Here in Lima practically the same number of votes were cast against the river bonds. Perhaps it might be best to submit the river bonds again in August and request the county commissioners to defer the bridge bonds for re-submission in November," the mayor said.

"I am a firm believer in the 'third time is the charm' idea," said Service Director McClain. I believe that the next time up the bonds will prevail with the voters. They have been twice defeated. The next time they will win—I trust, for the good of the city. The river retaining wall should be built at once. The city is under a moral obligation to make this improvement and it must be made at once, for labor and material. An improvement of sanitary sewer along the river should be constructed at the same time, but this is impossible. My idea has been to make the retaining wall one of the walls of the intercepting sewer, but unless it is designed to take care of storm water, a sewer of such large dimensions would not be necessary. The storm water goes directly to the river. It is the disposition of sanitary sewage in dry weather that is most needed, to keep it out of the river.

"Another essential improvement that should be given attention by all means," said the service director, "is the extending of the Spencer road into the city, part of which was destroyed when the Ottawa river channel was widened. A $12,000 bond issue was asked for this purpose, but it was denied."

City Auditor D. L. Rupert is of the opinion that the river bonds should be again submitted in August and the county bridge bonds in November. "Every time the bonds are denied by the voters and the improvements delayed, it means that they will cost more when they come eventually, as they must," said the auditor. "I believe the river bonds will carry the next time and they should carry. The city is under obligation to property owners to afford improvements in flood waters. Every organization in the city that believes in progress should assist in a campaign of education in favor of the bonds."

COUNCIL WILL TAKE UP CAR FRANCHISE TUESDAY

A special meeting of city council has been called for Tuesday night to confer with officials of the Ohio Electric, Messers Day and Zimmerman, of Philadelphia, and Vice-President J. H. McClure, on the question of deciding finally, if possible, the Lima Street Railway ordinance and franchise that for several weeks has been under consideration by officials of the O. E. the citizens committee and members of council.

HARDING'S LIGHT IS BURNING LOW; VISION IS DIM

Presidential Tide of Ohio's Senator is Receding in Rapid Manner

DELEGATES GETTING AWAY

Many Cases of "Political Cataract" Need Services of "Political Optometrist"

COLUMBUS—Since the thing that men call "politics" is so largely a matter of vision and since there have been evidenced so many cases of political cataract, astigmatism, shortsightedness and obscure vision in this current belated spring, why not a new profession to be known as political optometry? There should be a state board to examine applicants proper certificates, fees and inspectors to see that the proposition be faithfully executed and that no quick or irregular practitioner be permitted to work. None, we take it, will deny the need of men who can adjust their optics to true situations and there ought to be good practice ahead for the best to qualify. Surely there will be found few suffering from far-vision, but many suffering from the opposite condition. It would be worth while to line up a few to convince entrants of the big possibilities.

For instance, there is our old friend, Hon. Warren G. Harding, United States Senator from Ohio, candidate for President, sometime candidate for Vice-President, sometime candidate for Senator, a post in the cabinet or anything he can get easily. His vision was decidedly poor in Ohio and is still poor for he third he has 29 loyal delegates to his credit when in truth and in fact he may have 25 and he may have, or, surely not more than that number. If he could read mind, there is no question but that he would, at his deliverable strength down to 25 and possibly fewer. If one wished to get into the dead nest he might recall that in Washington he saw the Buckeye congressional delegation loyal to himself but then after eating his food and chiding his utterances, there were about three or four who really cared for him, while one Charles C. Keegan of Barabara, now for William Johnson.

But not to use Hon. Warren G. too much of an example, one might take the advice of Indiana. The Hoosiers were once portrayed as wanting only Harding to make them happy and contented, green and blue, but again something was wrong with the optic lenses for they ran him fourth in a field of four and pretty far down at that. The only reason that he was not fifth was that there were only four candidates in the primary. Even when viewing the other chances, there was something wrong for Harding said at Cincinnati that Johnson would be first and let the voters said it would be Wood, not to indulge in alliteration. Even now in Ohio Senator Harding cannot see the Cincinnati soap king, Hon. William Cooper Procter looming up as a senatorial candidate against him if he is still so blind as to persist in presentation of his name to the Chicago convention.

But had eyesight not confined to would-be Presidents, not only by a useful. For the in Cleveland, Harry L. Davis, the former mayor of the metropolis who aligned himself with the perishing Harding boom and now finds himself called upon to vote once or twice in Chicago for Senator Harding when the state is full of Wood sentiment and there is a general demand that the Senator efface himself. How Davis hopes to regain the ground he lost on primary day is uncertain but it seems that he has hopes.

But deep penetration into the future is wanting, not only to such leaders. There is a Mitchell Palmer, of Washington, who can see "red" growing everywhere and who has lost the confidence of a large section of the public and ever so many delegates at San Francisco and there are numerous shining examples elsewhere, not the least of whom is the so-called "Old Guard" who stirred Johnson up to all the tricks he has pulled and may now be forced to go to Wood to keep him in restraint. There are the city weaklings who did not foresee the troubles they were warring in the land and could not visualize all the disorder that was certain to spring from fomenting racial prejudices and animosity. They too, are poor.

In these parts there is not even a humble follower who will not grant that the whole tide of them would do differently if they had it do over again and that the Peace Treaty would have been ratified long ago had they only known it was to hang around to William Johnson with the means of showing them up as leaders only by the grace of the negro delegates from the Southland.

Another set of folks who see adjustment of their optics is the coterie of "big taxers" of Ohio. Despite all the trouble that Ohio has had with the tax system they imagine a way to run better-shelter into a federal proposition and the gang has announced it will initiate a new movement "to be frank with our land and fruitful readers by willing to lay a bet right here that it has done no such thing. We can be even, as for it that it is performing a mean service for the taxpayer of all degrees by keeping the issue confined to the minds of the middle-brained section of the community. Likewise, a reasonable rate of taxation and income tax scheme is derived greatly by this set which will have no property or land to be taxed. One of the high-brow boarders of the party described the annual outbreak as a thing of the "a one like gathering recent, cleaning house or going fraying. And every body wishes to think it will come to nothing."

"A paper reporter
A man in later
When the sun of a man in the
From Mother Gooden on the Dundee."

Having had plenty of experience in a thing, he said, "I am in the growing mind that are wondering why the Auditor of State does not report to the Auditor to Hon. William L. Aldrich, Judge of the Court of Appeals, who is now the leading citizen who is in touch with the Auditor. It grew out of the attempt of the judge to eat $5 or $7 worth of food a day while in the land of the rubber king. That was in 1914 and the Auditor, who was in the Auditor, thought that he might bluff the Auditor into allowing two bills for the day's earnings of his. The Auditor No. 2 was to refer to having tipped over other bills of like size, the Auditor promptly informing him that he would reduce them to proper size and take it out of the next bill. The judge must restrain his appetite or wait for a new Auditor. Meanwhile cannot he be out to the new political optometrist?"

Among other things for which we shall put in the coming months is a General Assembly which will have the good sense to amend the election law. The fooling is about annual re-election ought to be eliminated and that quickly. We could well have an annual election in all parts of the state, rural and city and let it go at that. There is a reason for this. Around every city center there is a body of nothing for a while, which is a part of the city for commercial purposes but whose inhabitants are exempt from the requirement of registration when there is as much used for it as in the city proper. But what we started to say was that we wish the election laws amended so that the county boards can be compelled to furnish returns the night of the election. In the late primary they began to go home at eight o'clock and even when they were at the State House, C. Smith could not keep them a minute. If he had power to tie them they would stay a lot longer and such power will be granted other states put Ohio to shame on returns. It remains for "Jim" White, the Superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Slavery League, who is not a member of the Democratic party, to be much offended if accused of being one and probably never voted for a Jacksonian more than once or twice in his life, to tell the Democrats of Ohio what their reaction was to the triumph of William J. Bryan in Nebraska. What he did not tell, however, was that the Nebraska result is to be questioned in many ways as an expression of the popular will of the party since the Commoner himself asked Republican women to vote. The Democrats suffered loss of many votes from the German element which wished to record itself for William Johnson, the friend of those who like not the Treaty of Versailles because they like the Versailles. Really, though, Ohio Democrats thru their delegates to the convention will tell how they feel about the L. W. and B. issue and White will not be their spokesman. Rest assured of that.

With its piles of wealth earned in the luxury industries of Akron, the present fifth city of Ohio has made gigantic strides but the picture of the jamming together of $86,000 persons in the confines of a municipality built for half that number has features that are horrifying as much as the general situation is remarkable. The shadows are furnished by the Akron papers that no one may think that something has been invented. In a place for a new hospital, one of the paper shows a basement far below the street level where nearly 50 men slept and four men died for want of proper facilities for care of them when they were sick. The story says that the owners derived $388 of blood money revenue as rental. They never take visitors to see these places when they are showing the sights of the city and so one but an editor, perhaps, would have dug up the facts and displayed them.

It will soon be possible to have a test of the new Liggitt bill which was enacted by the late General Assembly and is now ripening into a full-fledged statute under the referendum. This piece of legislation declares exempt from the requirements of examination for fitness every person called into the military or naval service of the United States in any of its wars. Passed by a body which possessed absolutely no moral sense, the measure is the ruin of the state service. It means a relaxation of those who were called to the war, even though their service consisted of nothing more than a day of sitting at government posts. There is no discrimination between those who served at the machine gun or in the trenches and those who hardly had their feet to the ground when they were called to the Supreme Court at once for inspection.

THE FRANKLIN CAR

Its Superior Performance
Is a Matter of Motor Car History

20 miles to the gallon of gasoline
12,500 miles to the set of tires
50% slower yearly depreciation
(National Averages)

THE measure of satisfactory motoring today is what a car does. And motorists are realizing that it is quality and principles—not luck—which enable Franklin owners to get the above results.

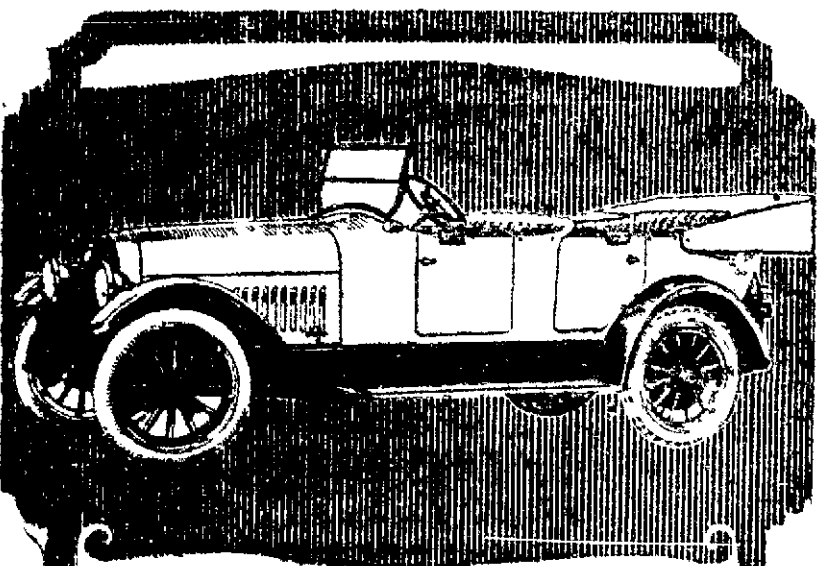

The Franklin Car is the easiest riding, safest driving, least fatiguing car today. Requiring least care, it gives least trouble and creates least expense. It is the most advanced automobile in design and construction. That's why these road records in different parts of the country have been possible—and with only one driver at the wheel constantly on each trip.

New York to Boston and return (458.8 miles) in 12 hours, 5 minutes—
Indianapolis to Syracuse and beyond (832.6 miles) in 22½ hours—
Cincinnati to Cleveland and return (553 miles) in 15 hours, 45 minutes—
Boston to Syracuse and return (693 miles) in 24 hours, 20 minutes, with a woman driving—
New York to Montreal (398 miles) in 9 hours, 59 minutes—
Waterloo, Iowa, non-stop, dirt road record (865.4 miles) in 24 hours

When Mayor Burkhardt spins over the first ball this afternoon at Murphy-st park the Lima Independents will get under way for what promises to be the most successful baseball season in years. Everything is set for the curtain-raiser but the weather and with indications late Saturday night favoring sunshine and warm breezes baseball followers are looking for one of the largest turnouts in years. The activities will open at 2 o'clock with "Cap's" Wessell of Detroit handling the indicators. Reports from Dayton and from the headquarters of Bernie Halloran, local manager, were that the above lineups would be thrown into action. Selection of Gamble and Barry as the pitchers for the opening day was the latest move of Halloran who had been puzzled with the slab problem since the organization of the local club. Gamble is said to be a classy boy and it showing the stuff in the opener will be retained Halloran announced. Should the newcomers fail to hold the Daytonites, Barry, the Lima product, will be sent to the mound. Glances at the infield of the Lima team prove that the locals will present one of the strongest lineups in years should members of the front-line come up to expectations. With Fickel, McClelland, Wentz and Malloy taking care of the grounders, the lima hurlers should have the best of support and chances for the local team carrying away the leading honors are good. In the outfield Crohen, Egan and Costello will chase the long swats. The batting order of the Lima team has not yet been announced by Halloran and chances are that the batting positions in the opener will be merely temporary, the final arrangement being fixed after Halloran has gotten a good line on the material. Manager Jordan of the Dayton team, wired Halloran Saturday night that the Gem City aggregation would land in this city early Sunday ready for action. The Dayton team has been holding practice session for the past two weeks, and tho today's appearance will be their first of the season the Americans claim to be in good shape. Jones, who is slated to do the hurling for Dayton is known to semi-pro fans in Southern Ohio as a steady boxman with a world of off and fairly good control. He has worked to any extent this year and may be minus the control of old. Tommy Hikes and George Rauch, who will be with the Dayton gang, are popular with local bugs, having appeared here in the Lima uniform in several games. Rauch will handle the slants of Jones and Hikes will perform at second base.

CENTRAL HIGH TRACK TEAM ENTERS TRI-STATE MEET

By E. Ebner.
Central High school has been entered in nine events of the TriState track meet to be held at Miami next Saturday May 15. Ohio Indiana and Kentucky are included in the meet. Over thirty-six high schools will participate in the events.

has been entered in the Tri-State contest and the candidates will be new and und unknown at the tournament. Due to the lack of necessary equipment Central was unable to enter all the events. Thus the local school cannot compete for the first grand prize, which is a big lovin cup. However individual prizes will be awarded for every event. The first prize will be a gold medal; the second, a silver medal; the third, a bronze medal and the fourth a ribbon. According to Coach Wallace the men are going to make a strong attempt to get some of the individual prizes. Each night this week he will put the men thru the stiffest grilling preparatory to the finishing touches. Coon has shown remarkable grit and courage and his indomitable pep is being relied upon strongly. The entries are as follows: 100 yard dash—E. Evans, W. Porter, G. Coon and H. Dabolt. Mile race—R. Kahle and Herman Geiser. Running high jump—J. Black. 440 yard run—J. Douglas and W. Porter. Running broad jump—H. Evans. H. Dabolt and J. Black. Discus throw—G. Coon. 225 yard dash—E. Evans, J. Douglas and Dabolt. 12 lbs shut-out—G. Coon and W. Porter. 880 yard dash—R. Kahle and H. Geiser.

IMMEDIATE DELIVERIES ON OVERLANDS

Tourings--Roadsters--Sedans--Coupes

Automobile factories all over the country have been shut down on account of the big railroad strike and it will probably be several weeks before the factories are back to normal production. Forseeing this condition we had a force of men on the road to Toledo within an hour after the strike was declared and during the next two or three days, while the factory was still building cars and was unable to ship any of them, we brought down drive away after drive away until we had 122 cars in stock, including touring, roadsters, sedans and coupes.

This large stock together with cars we are now able to secure has enabled us to put across the largest retail business in our history. During March and April we sold at retail 113 cars and we are still in position to make immediate deliveries.

LIMA LAKE AS FISH PRESERVE

Mayor Proposes Closing of Water With Game Species of the Finny Tribe.

"Hoo! hoo! Skinnay! waster! ink!"

Mayor Burkhardt told, mg. day, they're going to stock up Lima Lake, the city reservoir, with all kinds of bass and perch and gulf fish an' shucks an' everything! Gee, won't that be great!"

Yep, kids! these are facts.

A reporter for The Daily News and Times-Democrat, who overheard the conversation between "Skinnay" and his pard called upon Mayor Burkhardt. Saturday and was informed by His Honor that a plan is now being promoted thru the office of the city engineer, the public service director and the state game and fish commission to plant a million fish, from the state hatcheries, in Lima Lake in the immediate future.

It is requested by the Mayor that all local nurseries, at once, communicate with him and offer suggestions pertaining to the variety of fish they desire planted in Lima Lake.

"That's all that puzzles me now," said the Mayor, "being able to determine upon varieties. In my opinion Lima Lake, for reason of its ideal location, its billion gallons of water, with an average depth of from 10 to 20 feet, should make ideal fishing grounds for the boys and grownups of the city. Let's hear from all disciples of Ike Walton on this matter, immediately, so that we can place our order for fish implantations, now, while the State Game Warden's offer is ripe," Mayor Burkhardt said.

The chief executive of the city holds to the opinion that unless game fish such as bass, pickerel pike, etc., are planted in the new reservoir at once, to keep down carp and catfish that will find their way in, the pirate fish will soon "rule the roost," to the detriment of the more desirable species of the finny tribe. With game fish in the ascendancy, catfish and carp will have no chance to root up vegetation and destroy the value of the big lake as a source of water supply and as a home for desirable fish.

DORT

Quality Goes Clear Through.

Best in the Long Run

You can always tell the BEST Inner Tube at a glance;

—it is red and it bears the name Goodrich.

Goodrich Red INNER TUBES

The B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio
Makers of the SILVERTOWN — America's First Cord Tire

It seems to be common knowledge now, almost everywhere, that the Dort does give unusually long and faithful performance at a very low cost.

We, ourselves, have emphasized these Dort qualities to you time and again.

But we know that our repeated statements have played but a small part in building up this impression concerning the excellence and economy of Dort service.

Rather, it has come directly and in overwhelming measure from owners finding out these things themselves.

So that you will note even among people who do not now own a Dort but hope to, a high regard for the car that is based upon surprisingly accurate knowledge of its capacity for continued service at low cost.

TO INSURANCE WINDLE CHARGED AGAINST TWO MEN

A. Niedmeyer Arrested in Chicago and Frank Bonanno Taken Here Saturday.

SECURED CAR DISAPPEARED Reported Stolen, Found in Garage in Chicago—Niedmeyer Accused Bonanno.

Frank Bonanno, 34, 768 N. Mahan, was arrested by Chief of Police J. Roush, assisted by Sergeant Joseph and Eberle Saturday, charged in collusion with A. Niedmeyer, the theft of a 1929 model LaSalle touring car, belonging to Bonanno's father, Frank Bonanno. The car was reported stolen from Niedmeyer's Chicago, after a Chicago police department had been notified by Lima police to be the lookout for Niedmeyer, according to Chief Roush. Bonanno pleaded not guilty when arraigned in criminal court Saturday morning and was released Saturday afternoon on $1,000 bond. Sergeant John Goebel left for Chicago Saturday morning to return Niedmeyer to Lima for trial. Bonanno reported the car valued at $2,500 to police as stolen on April 30, according to Chief Roush, immediately following this report, according to police it was learned the car had recently been insured for $300 by O'Connor Bros. This raised suspicion that the car had been disposed of to collect the insurance. The Chief stated and when Niedmeyer left the city he was advised as he was suspected of collusion with Bonanno in the deal, being traced to Chicago, police that city were notified. A telegram was received by the department Friday announcing the arrest of Niedmeyer by the Chicago police, and his confession the theft of the car which he had been at the request of Bonanno. Bonanno told police he only permitted Niedmeyer to take the car on repeated requests and assurances that "others are doing it." He stated, according to police, that Niedmeyer promised to take all the risk and assured Bonanno he could have a new car within a month. Plans for disposal of the car were liberally laid according to Bonanno's statement to police and the fact of the alleged theft was not disclosed to police until April 30 although the car had been taken to Chicago the 28th and stored in a garage. Niedmeyer had returned to Lima. The license tags were thrown away east of Lima, police stated, in order to mislead authorities into the belief that the car had been taken to Lima. Preliminary hearing has been set Tuesday in criminal court.

A. A. Niedmeyer Arrested in Chicago and Frank Bonanno Taken Here Saturday.

INSURED CAR DISAPPEARED Reported Stolen, Found in Garage in Chicago—Niedmeyer Accused Bonanno

Ernest Bonanno, 30, 744 N. State, was arrested by Chief of Police O. J. Roush, assisted by Sergeant Gabel and Eusebio Rodriguez, charged with collusion with A. A. Niedmeyer in the theft of a 1935 model Lincoln touring car, according to Chicago police Saturday morning. Niedmeyer was taken to Chicago police department headquarters Saturday morning to return the car to Lima for trial.

Bonanno reported the car, valued at $2,500 to police as stolen on April 30, according to Chief Roush. Immediately following this report, according to police it was learned the car had recently been insured for $2,300 by O'Connor Bros. Annual Convention Representatives Ohio State Life Insurance Co.

President J. M. Sarver, Columbus, of the Ohio State Life Insurance Co., principal speaker at the annual banquet and convention of the Lima district held at the Elks club Saturday afternoon, predicted the largest business in the history of the company for the year 1920. President Sarver stated the month of April closed the most successful four months the company has ever experienced. Manager O. N. Young, of the Lima district was highly commended by the company's chief executive for his custom of holding a yearly meeting in commemoration of the Lima agency.

Other speakers at the meeting were Rev. Franklin A. Stiles, who spoke on "Fidelity and Patriotism," James W. Halfluth, Glenn C. Webb and W. Scott Boynton, superintendent of agencies at Columbus.

A round table discussion of the various phases of selling life insurance followed the address.

Others present at the meeting included W. K. Bush, manager of the Detroit district; C. J. Schilling, Medical director of the company and the following agents: H. H. Luthin, P. J. Rebecky, U. B. Thome, Rockford; N. H. Zimmerman, Rockford; C. W. Halfluth, Mercer; C. V. Zennengaugh, Celina; J. D. Van Cullen, St. Paris; J. W. Reddick, Kenton; A. C. Starkey, Lima; O. R. John, Lima; J. W. Gravel, Lima; P. O. Motter, Ada; R. O. Shippe, Leipsie; C. C. Doenges, New Bremen; O. M. McGhee, Ohio City.

F. W. Holmes, E. J. Malie, Harold Smith, Dr. A. H. Hill, and F. L. Maize, Lima, stockholders in the company and medical examiners. Dr. Paulder, Wapakoneta, Dr. P. B. Thut, Elida; Dr. O. R. Roebuck, Genmer, and Drs. W. H. and K. L. Parant, of Lima, were in attendance.

MRS. J. H. KISER'S FATHER, T. J. SHERMAN DIES AT BRADFORD, PA.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kiser, 536 S. Main-st. have just returned from Bradford, Pa., where they were called on account of the death and burial of Mrs. Kiser's father, Thomas Jefferson Sherman, 76 former Lima resident. Death was due to a complication of diseases, after an illness of a month.

During his residence in Lima he lived on S. Central-ave. He was an oil-drilling contractor. He left this city three months ago for a visit with his daughter, where he was struck with illness. His death occurred at the home of his daughter Mrs. M. J. Ball.

Besides to two daughters, he is survived by a son, E. W. Sherman, Muncie, one sister and three brothers. Funeral services were held Friday and interment was in Oak Hill cemetery, Bradford.

LIPPINCOTT WILL DELIVER ADDRESS

Decoration Day to Be Observed in Lima on Monday, May 31.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Eugene T. Lippincott will be the orator at the Decoration Day services in Lima, according to announcement made Saturday by W. D. Heffner, commander of Mart Armstrong Post of the Grand Army. Decoration falls this year on Sunday and will be celebrated in Lima on Monday, May 31. Exercises will be held at 2 o'clock at Memorial hall.

The music will be a special feature. Graves of all soldiers resting in Allen-co will be garlanded in the morning by committees appointed by the various patriotic societies.

Decoration day services will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning of Monday at Cridersville and a detail of veterans will attend there and decorate graves of soldiers. The pastor of the Lutheran church, where the services will be held, will speak.

Memorial day will be on Sunday, May 23. Mart Armstrong post and all patriotic societies will assemble at Memorial hall and march to the First Baptist church, in a body. The sermon will be given by Rev. Franklin A. Stiles.

Final arrangements for Decoration will be completed at a meeting of all patriotic societies, to be held Sunday at 2:00 o'clock. Committees to decorate graves will probably be named at the meeting next Friday evening.

BEAUTIFUL SILK FLAM IS GIVEN LEGION POST

The American Legion is the owner of a handsome silk flag, costing about $65, the gift of Mart Armstrong Woman's Relief corps. The presentation was made at the meeting Friday night.

FOR RED BLOOD, STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE

The WILMORT Way to Crumb the Table

The Wilmort Crumb Sweeper is a most essential adjunct to the well-appointed table. Dainty, handsome, compact it combines utility with gentility in a way that delights the woman who seeks the latest and best in refined table service.

Silently and gracefully the Wilmort glides over the table, its swiftly whirling brush collecting and hiding all crumbs and table litter. It keeps neat and clean your costly table linen, protects the delicate fabric and prolongs its life. It saves time and trouble, contributing to the comfort of those at the table.

There are six models—nickel, copper and silver plate with covers of plain or engraved design.

Prices $3.50 to $6.00.

The Peerless Two-Power Range Eight

Embodies lightness and roominess to the complete satisfaction of every person in the car.

The quick response of the motor for high speed in the sporting range or the slow easy motion of the car while traveling in the loafing range are but two of the features which go to make up this beautiful serviceable car.

The double-jet carburetor is instrumental in securing the quick response of the Peerless motor to the will of the operator. This quick response, quietness and smoothness, are features of the motor which are highly appreciated by Peerless owners.

The reputation of the Peerless Eight at once justifies the judgment of any purchaser who desires a car having the maximum comfort, power, speed, and convenience of control.

The Peerless Motor Car Company manufactures passenger cars only and confines itself to a single chassis. This concentration enables it to manufacture with maximum economy and with the greatest certainty of a uniform product. The Peerless Eight gives a sound value for every dollar of its purchase price.

Peerless bodies have the style, stamina, and equipment of the highest priced cars. They are built and finished entirely in the Peerless body shops which comprise a considerable portion of the group of buildings shown in the illustration of the Peerless Works.

Prevent Quarrels

By Helen Randolph

A sense of humor is wonderful thing. Isn't it? It often saves a whole situation. In the home, it sometimes saves a family quarrel that might end, bitterly.

But people differ greatly as to their sense of humor. What may seem extremely funny to one may no such effect on another. I remember one man who used to tell me I had no sense of humor because I didn't happen to like the same comics in moving pictures and cartoons that he liked, and what to me might seem subtly delicious would not appeal to him in the least.

No one man can tell another truly that he has no sense of humor. He can merely say that it is not apparent that he has for often people who have a well-developed sense of humor don't show it. They enjoy their jokes quietly, either alone or with some chosen friend. It's merely a matter of expression.

Men like to say that women have no sense of humor, and to flatter themselves that their own is highly developed. But many a woman, because she realized that it is funny that her husband makes bombastic speeches in public and then does just the opposite from what he advocates when at home, has saved herself from an old-fashioned family jar. A woman's sense of humor is often a great help to her in running a household.

Love And Married Life

By IDA MCG LONE GIBSON

Thoughts of the Future

My letter to John seemed rather constrained, but for the life of me I could not write it differently. I hurried myself with my sewing machine, only going downstairs to bid Alice good-by and to walk with her as far as the station, a few blocks away, when we found Ruth and Bobby. Ruth looked as she was burying Bobbie instead of sending him to his father for a little visit.

Ruth has a great respect for her word, otherwise I do not think she would have let him go. Some women are bigger on impulse than they are after trying to reason.

As the train left she turned abruptly. I know she did not even want me with her when she returned to her home and realized that little Bobby had left.

I wondered thru the village. It was the first time since my marriage that I had been there in the spring. The little town is rarely beautiful, nestling down beside the lake; its cool, tree-lined streets were sprinkled with the dandelions of springtime. The lawns I passed were sprinkled with the dandelions, gold and clumps of daffodils and jonquils here and there added more yellow splendor to the joyous morning.

Someone has said, "The world can never be a howling wilderness as long as there are sunshiny summertime afternoons." I would paraphrase that sentence a little and say, "The world will always be a hint of heaven on a sunshiny spring morning."

Nature is truly a wonderful thing to most of us. Sunshine and flowers and balmy air act as a tonic draught that pulls up all our wearying spirits and takes away all morbid and introspective thoughts.

A Faithful Chronicle

If this were an imaginative story I would leave out many of the quick changes in moods, variable moods of disposition and inconsistencies of Katherine, but being the truthful chronicler of my everyday-self, I just have to put down the sum of human actions and human understandings as they come to me. I know that whatever the novelists may write that no one is very unhappy all the time. Indeed, one changes from grave to gay, from sorrow to joy, from tears to smiles, very quickly and often, seemingly without cause. This morning when writing my letter to John I was not particularly happy. Nothing has changed since then, but now that I am walking thru this sunshiny street

DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

By PHILLIS PHILLIPS

THE EUROPEAN TRIP APPROACHES.

June 15—Fair and warmer than every today. Exciting things have happened. One of them being the booking of our passage for July 16. Aunt Cecilia has decided to go; at least she sails with us, and will stay as long as she can bear the separation from Jeff—whom I fear will not be long. We sail for Southampton, and go direct to London. It's too good to be true.

Cecil assures me that London will surprise me, but he forgets that a perfect lady is never surprised. At least she never shows it if so. He also says that I will return much seasoned. Now that is sheer impertinence on his part. Am I a cow or a vegetable to be "seasoned"? Dear, these British cousins are queer.

It seems to me that a modern girl gets all the "seasoning" that she needs right here in little old New York. Of which there is no better. And another thing, it's my firm belief that there is very little that our British cousins across the pond can show us about life or—anything worth while anyhow. They only think they can.

I know that my manners will not come up to their standards. That is understood, but then, what are a few manners between allies? Despite my polite and worldly manner, I find that Cecil considers me quite gauche and unmolded, which is funny when you come to think of it. Most of my friends think me too advanced. As for mother!

Cecil informed me the second day of our acquaintance, that I "burst" into a room, instead of "entering" it. They are so critical, the English. Also, so tactless despite their corner manners. There are any number

SUSIE SMART SAYS:

MY LITTLE son is 10 years old, his having rabbits, but I can't see what he has been begging me to do for what good they would be. I would buy him some rabbits for rather he had instructive toys. I don't object, particularly to Woudn't they be more useful?—J.

YOUR little boy enjoys toys, too, no doubt, but just now he wants something alive to play with—something that can run without being wound up. It is natural for children to want pets.

If your home is so situated that it is possible for you to keep rabbits and give them a runway of grass, there is no good reason why your son should not be permitted to have these pets.

He should, of course, be taught to care for them himself. It might be a good plan to tell him that he may have them as long as he feeds them regularly and gives them proper treatment in every way; but that if he neglects them, they will be given to someone who will see that they have good care.

Pets may be very instructive for small boys and girls. Your boy should learn kindness and gentleness in caring for his rabbits and should develop a sense of responsibility.

It must be remembered, however, that when one lives in the city, where homes are close together, the rights of the neighbors must be considered in matters of this kind. It would be unfair for you to have rabbits if they were allowed to run about in the neighbors' yards, nibbling the young plants in their gardens. Other pets, such as dogs and cats, should be kept at home, and not permitted to become a nuisance to the neighbors.

Dear Miss Smart: I am a young girl who has builded upon said, I wish to create a new structure upon a solid rock. All my life I wanted to cry when any of my creations had to torn down and rebuilt. I loved very much—very unworthily, yet as I builded of my very best material such a beautiful structure I just cannot tear it down. I have tried every way to remodel, but it will not do. I have even tried O'Reilly a little plan for undoing, but even that failed.

I am in school and trying oh so hard to forget. I get interested in new projects for the time, then they tire me and the old longing for the impossible gets the best of me. I just cannot give up my ideals. My common sense pleads with me and I try to give up this creation and start anew. Will you show me where I am defective?

JUNITA.

If O'Reilly has failed, try Kipling. I wish that I had space here to print Kipling's "IF." No one with a discouraged or broken heart could read it without gaining new courage and comfort.

Keep up your brave struggle. If you can hang on to yourself now, contentment and even happiness will come in time, and you will be all the finer, because you were master of your sorrow.

Your heart is only one of hundreds, even thousands, which is aching right now. This is the time to let common sense guide you and to put aside dreams. Dreams lead astray, while common sense leads back to the normal and sane in life.

Try not to dim the beauty of your experience with tears. Keep that page of your life bright and turn the sheet without a sigh, trusting that the climax has not been reached and ahead is something even lovelier.

Dear Miss Smart: I am a girl of nineteen. My father is dead, but he left mother and my three sisters a fairly good amount of money. We are not in need, I finished school last year and am

RIOTOUS COLORS

FORM DESIGN ON BEIGE CHIFFON

By ELOISE

Printed chiffon is again the popular fabric for afternoon frocks. It is being used to make separate blouses and hats as well. Often it is used in combination with plain colors of chiffon or silk. Flowered designs, tutuist designs and oriental ones are the most popular and there seems to be a division of popularity between pale colors and brilliant oriental ones.

Here is a very pretty frock for afternoon and semi-dress occasions made of beige colored chiffon with an oriental design in riotous colors. The chiffon is draped over navy blue tulle and the colors are tastefully toned down by a two-toned ribbon girdle. A fold of the blue tulle outlines the quaint little round neck and the sleeves and tulle edges are finished with looped strands of colored beads.

Note the novel sunshade, also made of figured chiffon. It is one of the unique models with only four ribs and the handle extends along one rib, giving more room for the hat or head of milder. These new parasols will be popular on the summer beaches and at the country clubs.

In reply to a MILLION THANKS—Under the circumstances you should marry. Neither of you should have up your religion since it means so much to you. The man should not be expected to any more than you.

Yes, if you were married by the justice of peace you could attend your church, but you could not be a communicant and your marriage would not be recognized by the church.

YOUR NAME

FAIRBANKS

VARIATIONS—None. RACIAL ORIGIN—Middle English. SOURCE—Descriptive, geographical.

There are a tremendous number of geographical family names which developed in England.

Often a man would take the name of the town or village in which he had resided, but for the most part this occurred only when he had moved to another place or if he happened to belong to the nobility and was a member of the family which exercised overlordship over that town.

More often, however, he would take as his distinguishing name some particular part of place of the countryside or town in which he resided.

Fairbanks might be described as a countryside family name. In the Middle Ages, when it ceased to be a merely descriptive name of a single individual and began to be passed down from father to son, it meant just what it would be taken to mean today "fair banks." Undoubtedly the original Fairbanks dwelt at some riverside spot in England locally described as such. More than likely he was a farmer.

This family name, strictly speaking has no variation, being a straight combination of two words which have come down from the Middle Ages with little or no change in spelling. There are, however, a host of names which originated in England and consist of the combination of the word "fair" with other words.

Fairbanks, though widely known, is not an exceptionally common name. Yet it occurs often enough to warrant the assumption that it developed independently in several different places and probably in various periods.

THE PASSING WEEK

PROGRESS is the keynote in Lima. The week just closed has been notable for civic advance accompanying emergence from the lethargy of winter, due to delayed arrival of what might be termed real spring temperature.

With milder weather, nature taking on more beautiful hues and the call of the great out-of-doors singing in the ears of human-kind, it is only natural that a more hopeful and optimistic outlook should take the place of the gloom that inevitably accompanies winter and the bleakness of early spring, before nature can assert itself under the warm rays of a generous sun.

Labor conditions, almost as a whole, have continued normal in this city. There has been perceptible improvement in the fuel situation, freight and express handling facilities have become somewhat nearer normal and business generally has taken on a more hopeful tenor.

Material progress has been made in the outlook for a summer campaign of improvement in the city, sewers, street paving, etc. City parks are soon too open, with more desirable features than in past seasons. Improvements and additions are being made in the kiddies' sections, baseball is opening, garden making is on in full blast and plans for outdoor work are proceeding apace.

In the agricultural sections all about Lima plowing and sowing and planting goes on with a rush, since the cessation of almost continuous spring rains.

Good progress has been made by council on the Ohio Electric franchise and there is prospect of franchise provisions being decided upon soon, depending on satisfactory agreement as to the valuation of the O. E. property.

In administration circles there has been little or no stir, beyond the official family doing its part in the development of improvement programs. Business men report increase in buying with the advent of better weather conditions. Building work has progressed more rapidly and satisfactorily, contractors reporting a new impetus in their respective lines.

There is noted little improvement in the sugar situation and housewives view with alarm prospects for the future. Even higher prices are anticipated.

Backyard gardening and the rearing of chickens for meat and egg production is being urged upon the people everywhere. Sentiment continues divided on the desirability of advanced time.

After a trial of two weeks of daylight saving, feeling against it is apparently growing more widespread.

"FREE RUSSIA"

EMMA GOLDMAN, one of the deported anarchists, has discovered that the United States is to be preferred to "free Russia," her present home and the land like which she sought to make America.

By her own statements, the world is given to understand that the realm of the bolshevik is not the Eutopia it is declared to be by some. In her letter, which she has just written to a friend in this country, this woman has hit her own theories a staggering blow. She has admitted that the ideals for which she has preached are not to be found in suffering Russia as it is today. If she does not like it there, others probably will not be anxious to follow her.

GREED RUNNING RAMPANT

WITH retail sugar prices in various cities having passed the 30-cent mark, it is practically unobtainable most every place, at any price. There is talk also that sugar will soon be retailing at 50 cents.

On the floor of the Senate the statement was made by Senator Capper that the "sugar profiteers are preparing for their annual canning season raid." He charged that "for years the sugar interests have openly and brazenly robbed American housewives during the canning season; they have, with their extortionate charges, regularly blighted the hopes of poor families of putting up and storing away a cheap and wholesome supply of fruits and vegetables. It is piracy so colossal and criminal that Captain Kidd and all the famous pirates of history become Sunday school characters in comparison."

While sugar prices are still soaring and others are scoring the sugar hogs, the Foreign Trade Record, issued by the National City Bank of New York, declares:

"With sugar prices the 'highest ever,' the quantity being brought into the United States is the 'biggest ever.' Official figures of the movement of sugar into the United States, including that from its own islands, indicate that the quantity entering the country in the fiscal year of 1920, which ends in June, will apparently approximate 9,000,000,000 pounds, as against 7,750,000,000 in the former high record year—the fiscal year of 1919."

The situation such as the record shows, indicates that the sugar profiteering game now being played is perhaps the greatest single example of wrong doing in that respect in all history.

MOTHER'S DAY—SUNDAY

NEITHER tongue nor pen is adequate to pay tribute to mothers of men in a manner that does justice to the greatest boon a loving and compassionate Creator has conferred on mankind.

Every age since the beginning of the world has been one of error and confusion to a more or less degree. Ideas have been brought out into the light of day that sought to change the foundations of society and many of them succeeded in their mission. However, one great principle of mankind has resisted all attacks. That is the duty of homage to mother.

Since the very inception of time they have been the recognized inspiration of moral life and the hand that rocks the cradle not only rules the world, but likewise has saved this old sphere from corruption and decay. Spartan mothers urge their children in the right paths in patriotism, honor and duty. They cultivate within them refinements of love for the home life. So long as America honors motherhood, so long will America live and flourish.

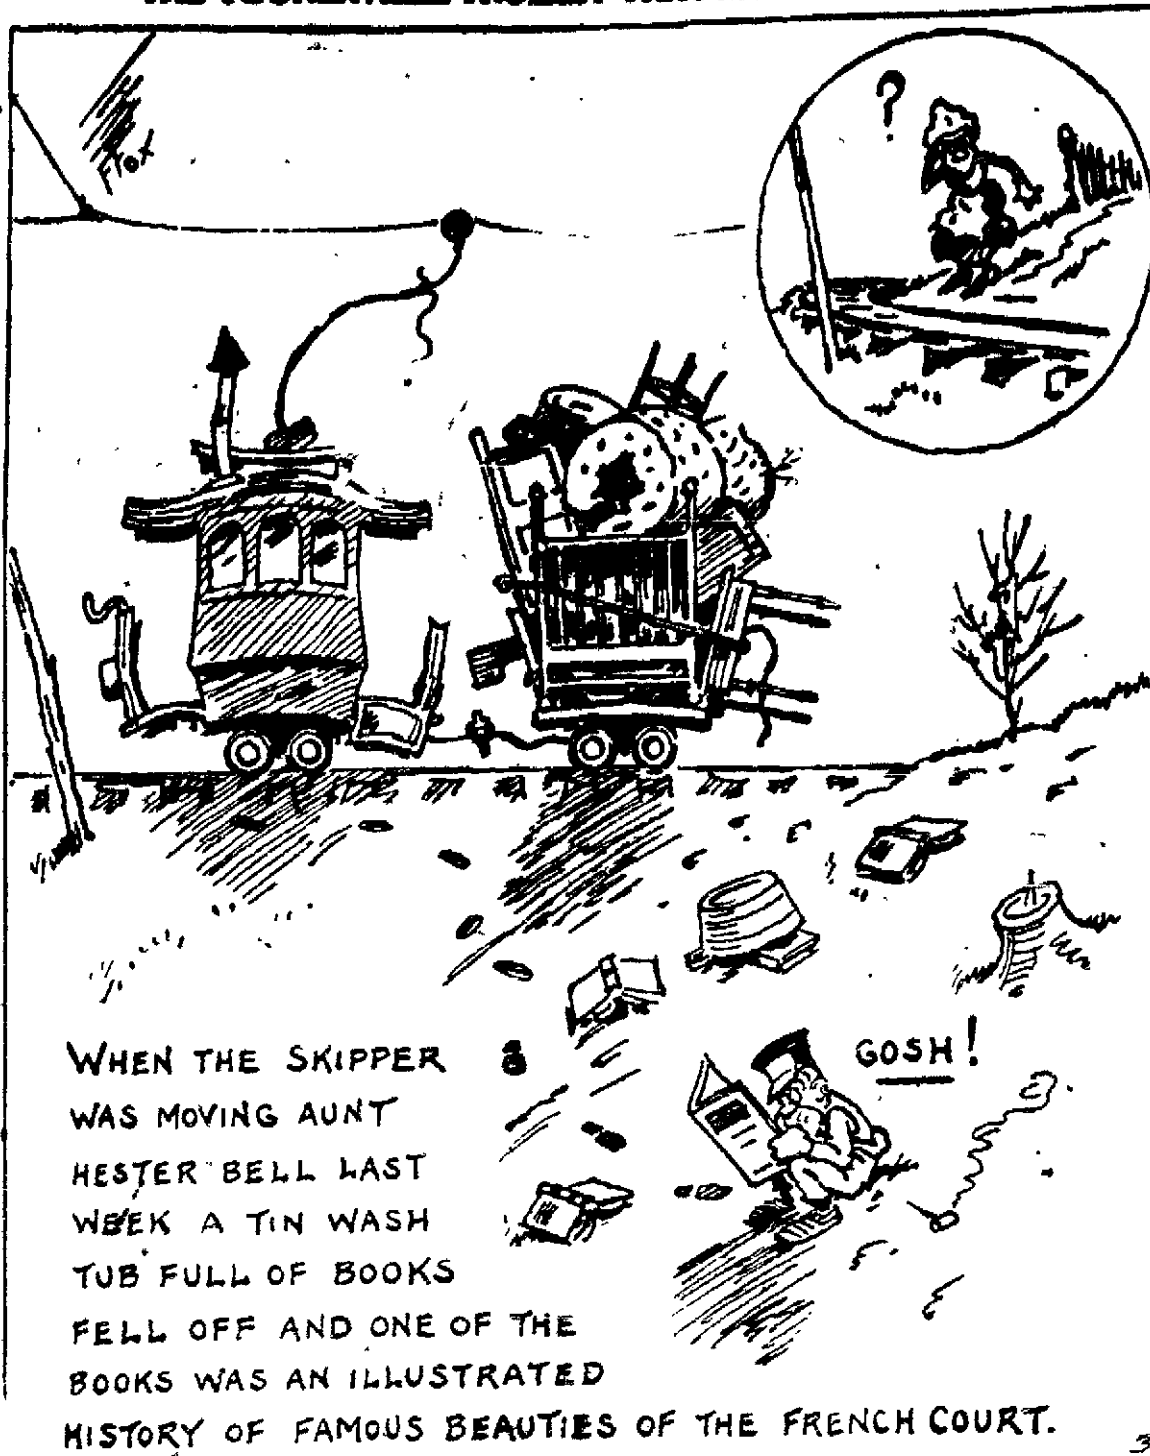

This is Mother's day. It is the annual occasion for special homage at the shrine of motherhood. Those who are so fortunate as to still have with them in this life the one who went down into the valley of the shadow of death that they might be given birth and life and light and a place in the world of men, should honor her by wearing as a boutonniere a red or other colored carnation on this day.

Those who have had taken from them, by an All Wise Providence, the tender and loving ministrations of mother, should show respect for her memory by wearing a white flower and by placing a wreath on her tomb, where the earthly remains rest while the soul is with its Maker, awaiting in the realms of joy and anticipation the coming of the loved ones she has left on earth. Mothers who have answered the call to the higher life have only gone on before. They have entered into the reward that comes as a blessed assurance to those who tread the straight and narrow path, whose duty has been well done and whose lives have been well lived.

The world owes more to motherhood than it can ever repay. She has contributed so much to purity, to progress, and has bestowed so much love and duty and tenderness in molding lives that she certainly must be especially honored in the beyond. All honor to mother! She is the most necessary part of the bulwark of continued progress of the world.

THE TOONERVILLE TROLLEY THAT MEETS ALL TRAINS—by Fox

WHEN THE SKIPPER WAS MOVING AUNT HESTER BELL LAST WEEK A TIN WASH TUB FULL OF BOOKS FELL OFF AND ONE OF THE BOOKS WAS AN ILLUSTRATED HISTORY OF FAMOUS BEAUTIES OF THE FRENCH COURT.

THE MAN WHO WON

—BOOK II—FIND THE WOMAN

She had never looked better. Longfield told her in a whispered word of intimate greeting, and others more frankly said the same thing. She may have lacked a little perfection in face, but her slender yet well-rounded figure was the very embodiment of grace and beauty. Keene, who had a habit of looking directly at people with a gaze which some women at least found embarrassing, she there was in it only the frank scrutiny a man would give to men for instance, found her altogether charming.

Now there was much more in that interchange of glances upon his presentation to her than were to be found in the customary polite recognition of such an introduction. She knew him at once for the man of the ring, as she had often characterized him in her remembrances of the episode, and she could not but betray her surprise, a fact noted by the two men both watching her closely. Keene, of course, was not surprised at all. He had been prepared by Longfield's story of the diamond. He had that advantage over the woman. Longfield could draw nothing from his unperturbed bearing, except in so far as something might be deduced from his failure to refer to the matter at all. That was rather unaccountable.

Now Barbara, even in her surprise, had immediately noted that reticence also. And she was as quick to decide to let her visitor open the subject or not as he chose as she was to recover her poise. She in turn did not refer to the ring or their previous meeting. She recalled Keene with the proper cordiality due to a friend of the man who was aspiring to more than friendship with her, and whose hopes might be made certain by that announcement she was almost purposed to make that very evening.

At her silence about the diamond, Longfield was indeed puzzled. Why should she not have spoken? Was it a conspiracy between Keene and the woman? Had they met since the ring episode, without his knowledge? But no, there was Barbara's betrayal of surprise. Yet that might have been accounted for by seeing Keene with Longfield. He frowned and Keene noted and rejoiced in his annoyance. Longfield determined to find out what was toward before the evening was over. Unfortunately for his immediate plans his personal popularity interfered. He was claimed and taken away preemptorily by one of the fair guests to a young woman even his fineness was for the moment unequal. And Barbara and Keene were left alone between arriving guests. He made prompt use of the opportunity in his downhearted way.

"You will, I am sure, be glad to learn that my application, made before I met you, for a commission in the United States Engineers has been acted upon favorably, and as soon as some necessary business has been closed I shall be on my way to France, Miss Le Moyne."

"I am glad, indeed, Mr. Keene. I knew when I used the odious word that it was unmerited," she replied, strangely glad that he had so promptly made her his confidante. "Will you forgive me?"

"There is nothing I would not forgive you, Miss Le Moyne," his feelings betraying him into this abrupt utterance, which she felt to be more than a mere compliment. "And I can't thank you for your generous contribution. You will be glad to know that I sold the ring."

"Sold it?" he interrupted and she noticed but did not note his surprise. "Certainly. I should have been glad to have kept it myself, but in this time of my country's need—"

"I understand, of course," he completed her unfinished sentence. "The decision does you credit. Did the Red Cross benefit much?"

"To the extent of six thousand dollars by your generosity and Mr. Longfield's," she answered just as new arrivals interposed and swept them apart.

So that was the truth, was it? Come to think of it Longfield had not exactly said she had given it to him. What, had been his words? Keene's recollection of them was perfect, "he—er—had it" from her, as a "remembrance." Yet he had allowed Keene to believe and undoubtedly intended to convey the idea that it was a gift—an ex gratia d'armour!

Keene looked at Barbara, receiving her guests with all her distinction and charm in evidence. He looked beyond her to Longfield, uneasy and restive under his detention by the prettiest and brightest woman in the room—except Barbara of course—and wondered.

Decidedly she should not be permitted to marry Longfield. Yet how prevent it? Perhaps he would better let the affair take its course. Why not? Yet how could she fail to detect in Longfield some of the things he was beginning to feel or see? Is love always blind? Ought she not to be, especially of this very ring episode and Longfield's false assertions? But, there, it was not his affair. Or was it? At any rate he would settle with Longfield in some way. He would discover who and what he was, his business! Then he would tell Miss Le Moyne and she could do as she pleased. It was no concern of his. He was not in love with her, or with anyone, unless it were the woman he was seeking. He had been in love often in his younger days, but he had drifted away from women. He had other things to think of. He wished, he had met Miss Le Moyne before.

Yes, this girl was most attractive. He had never seen such a neck and arms, no not even in lands where nature had not been impeded by civilization in its effort to develop womanly perfection. Or stop, he had never seen any except those that had encircled his head, that had been outlined against the blue sky as the woman he sought had bent over him by the river that day of desperate hazard.

For a moment he forgot the present woman thinking of the elusive woman of the past. His abstraction gave her opportunity on her part in a pause in her welcomings to study him and once again their eyes met. Her own eyes did not fall before his level glance. She sustained it unflinchingly. She, too, had the habit of confronting friend and enemy with steady gaze. This was the second time that evening their glances had met and they clashed like engaged sword blades. Despite herself her heart beat a little faster. She would not look down, but it was not until he looked away, his attention necessarily distracted by a questioner, that she could view him critically.

She was well pleased with what she saw in him: strength, power, indomitable will, pride, and rough

HEALTH HINTS

—By William H. Hays, M. D.
I. A. T. AND FOUR CIRCLES
It has taken the Lima press time out what a potent means "poor circulation." Poor circulation means cold hands and feet. There is, at least in a great many cases, a direct relation between I. A. T. and "poor circulation."

I. A. T. is an abdominal condition, meaning the degree of pressure maintained within the abdominal cavity. When the I. A. T. is low, blood distribution throughout the body is correspondingly poor. Mind, I do not say that low I. A. T. is the only cause of cold hands and cold feet. It is a common cause. Heavy feet and young adults answer to this description: Underweight, slow pulse, widely open or "large" eyes, moist too moist, excessive pyroelectric acid secretion in stomach, abnormal flushings or sweating, obstinate constipation, a tendency to asthmatic attacks or perhaps a feeling of inability to expire although inspiration is not difficult, perhaps "lump" in the gutt or behind the heart, and always cold hands and feet. Here is a fine selection of symptoms that I have ventured to mention in months before. Help yourselves, neuritis. These symptoms recited to your doctor, are likely to win for you the title of "neuritic" or "nervous patient." We healers, of all brands or "schools" (though too many healers of modern varieties have precious little schooling) have a way of dubbing conditions we are a bit uncertain about "neuritis," and calling the sufferers "neuritis." A recent variation of the theme is "vagotonia" and "vagotonics," which still leaves us dangling, although we are getting warmer.

Take one of the "neuritis" or "vagotonics" just described with a wealth of symptoms, place him or her supine and gently lay a heavy handbag on the abdomen; very soon the hands and feet will begin to get warm. A well fitted corset or abdominal supporter accomplishes the same result in a less thorough manner, but unfortunately the abdominal splint has a tendency to increase its permanent effect is rather to lower I. A. T. The explanation of this effect on the circulation is increase of I. A. T. by the weight of the sandbag or the pressure of the corset or other splint.

Somersaults momentarily distribute the blood which is stagnating in the great splanchnic pool, warming up the hands and feet, brightening up the dull or sallow complexion, clearing the cobwebs away from the business part of the cerebrum. But somersaults are not exercises and unfortunately the one way to increase I. A. T. permanently is by developing the abdominal supporting muscles.

I am sorry about this but you can't take the remedy in capsules or have it rubbed in by a masseur. In order to maintain an efficient and comfortable I. A. T. you simply must indulge in several minutes, at least, of actual exercise every day. So annoying isn't it? Don't try to take your exercise in clothes. Women's corsets and pretty boy clothes of the sort wished on the male specimen today are not built for I. A. T. They are built for slouches. The way to exercise is naked. Or as nearly so as possible.

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT

This day is not fortunate. Military affairs will attract widespread attention thru rumors of an international crisis. Scandal and gossip concerning women in public affairs will be rife under this rule. A financial crisis for the early summer when the signs are sinister for banks. An Eastern city will suffer from a devastating fire with much loss of life. Persons whose birthday this is should avoid change if they would have a successful financial year. Children born today will be talented but impractical.

In fairness to our readers and advertisers, The Lima News Publishing Company wishes to publicly state that no gas company owns a dollar of the stock of this publication and that the ownership HAS NOT CHANGED in personnel thru the merger except by the addition of two new individual stockholders, Robert J. Neither The Lima News Publishing Company, L. S. Galvin, E. R. Curtin or any individual stockholder of this company, owns, or is interested in any way, in a dollar's worth of stock of The Republic-Gazette Company.

We believe by this merger a public service has been accomplished in the face of conditions in the printing and publishing industry which would have meant hardships to merchants, not only immediately but in the future. Like mergers have recently occurred in Fort Wayne, a city twice the size of Lima, which, like Springfield now has but two papers, morning and evening. The lady is evidently a modest creature who wanted to appear in something less shocking than the average street gown of recent times. Perhaps, even, she was trying to start a dress reform.

A lady in overalls wouldn't attract any more attention on the average city street than a brick-layer.

Ten thousand ladies in overalls, marching sixteen abreast and headed by a brass band, wouldn't get a single look if there was one good-looking chap going up the other side of the street in a modern gown. If you don't believe it, ask your conscience.

TESTED RECIPES.
Creamed Potatoes on Toast—Boil six potatoes (diced) and two large onions sliced and diced, add salt and pepper.
Drop the yolk of one egg in a bowl and add one heaping tablespoon of flour and mix it in with your finger tips till it is like very coarse meal.
Add milk, from one quart to three pints, to the cooked potatoes and onions and bind with one tablespoon of flour and one of butter, blended. The mixture will be more creamy if a little of the hot milk, after adding to potatoes and onions, is blended with butter and flour, then all mixed together.
After it boils up well, scatter the egg meal in and cook ten minutes. Pour it over pieces of toast and it will taste nearly like codfish and is a much cheaper dish.
Meat Hash—Two pounds hamburger steak, one box macaroni, one quart tomatoes, one-half cup chopped suet, six or eight onions.
Put suet in frying pan, fry until all fried out, then slice onions into hot fat, fry until tender but do not brown, turn often. When done put steak in with them, turning all the time, until every particle of red meat is cooked, then put into granite kettle with the macaroni, which has been boiled in salted water for ten minutes or more. Add can of tomatoes, salt and pepper to taste. Cook slowly for two or three hours; stir often.

TWO GOOD CAKES.
Red Chocolate Cake—One cup sugar, two level teaspoons butter one cup not water, one level teaspoon soda, one and one-half cups sifted flour, one level teaspoon baking powder, one egg yolk, one-half cup grated bitter chocolate, two teaspoons vanilla one-quarter level teaspoon salt.
Cream the butter and sugar, add the egg yolk and cream again, then add the chocolate after it has been dissolved in one-half cup of boiling water.

Sift the flour, salt and baking powder together, then add to above mixture, beating hard. Last, add the remaining one-half cup hot water with soda dissolved in it. Add vanilla. Bake in layers in moderate oven or a loaf.

Good Cheap Cake—One cup sugar, three tablespoons butter substitute, one egg and the yolks of two eggs (saying one white), one-half teaspoon salt, two-thirds cup sweet milk, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder.

Cream sugar and butter, add eggs and beat thoroughly; add milk and stir. Then put one cup of flour in after, add salt, nutmeg and baking powder. Sift in mixture, stirring good; then sift in second cup of flour. Add flavoring if desired.

Bake in two tins in a moderately hot oven.
Try cake in a miniature pan to be sure it is just right. If too thin add a little more flour.

For the icing take one-quarter cup of sugar and one-half cup of water, and let boil until it forms a soft ball when tested in cold water, then add sugar and beat until cold. Sprinkle coconut between and over cake.

'MARTINIQUE' IS DECLARED TO BE ENJOYABLE PLAY

Miss Victor is Star in New Lawrence Eyre Production on Broadway

THE REVIEW OF THE RIALTO

Regular Music Season Closed in New York—Other Theatre News

NEW YORK. — Shakespeare, so long as he is represented on the stage by the consummate artists, E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe, has little or nothing to fear from the ultra modern playwrights. Last week the old and the new were brought into competition in a modern play of an earlier date, "Martinique" with "Twelfth Night" with Miss Arthur as Viola. When the returns were in Shakespeare or Bacon, whoever the outfit board declares to be the real author of this amusing comedy, must have been content with the verdict. The brief season of Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe, which is limited to four weeks, will prove as interesting as successful.

"Martinique," the play before mentioned, is by Laurence Eyre. Its scene is the island from which the title is derived. The period is some fifty years ago, which permits of picturesque costumes, which opportunity is taken full advantage of. The coloring is gloriously romantic, the speeches fine melodrama with rounded sentences that fill the mouth and flow like rippling rivulets over the pebbled bosom of the brook. The is not unduly discriminating in its literary merit, but the cast, which is headed by Josephine Victor, aided materially by Emmet Corrigan and Arthur Hohl, is satisfying to the nth degree. Miss Victor is one of the few actresses on the native stage who combines in happy harmony the dramatic fervor of an emotional actress with the skill of a comedienne, and in the acts, three acts which are filled with climaxes, dramatic and sentimental, set in scenery redolent of the tropical West Indies, romantically enhanced by the fluent and lulling French language which is used freely in its true and adapted form. "Martinique" may not be a classic, judged by the standards of the reviewers, but it is a colorful, warm and highly picturesque and effective melodrama acted skillfully and furnishing an evening of real theatrical enjoyment. The story concerns the tempestuous and brief experience of a French maid who comes from Paris to seek her father in Martinique and learns upon her arrival that she is not the legitimate daughter of her father, who already has a wife and daughter on the island. Finding herself alone and penniless, her mother having sometime previously died and her father but recently, she becomes unmeshed in a romance with the youthful fiancé to her half sister and embroils herself likewise with the local rich planter, an octaroon who chuckles and gloats and is otherwise gifted with all the vices of a first class arch villain. The denouement is dramatic and unexpected, and while the entire cast acquitted itself capably, it was Miss Victor to whom the greatest credit fell for her long, arduous, effective and well sustained performance.

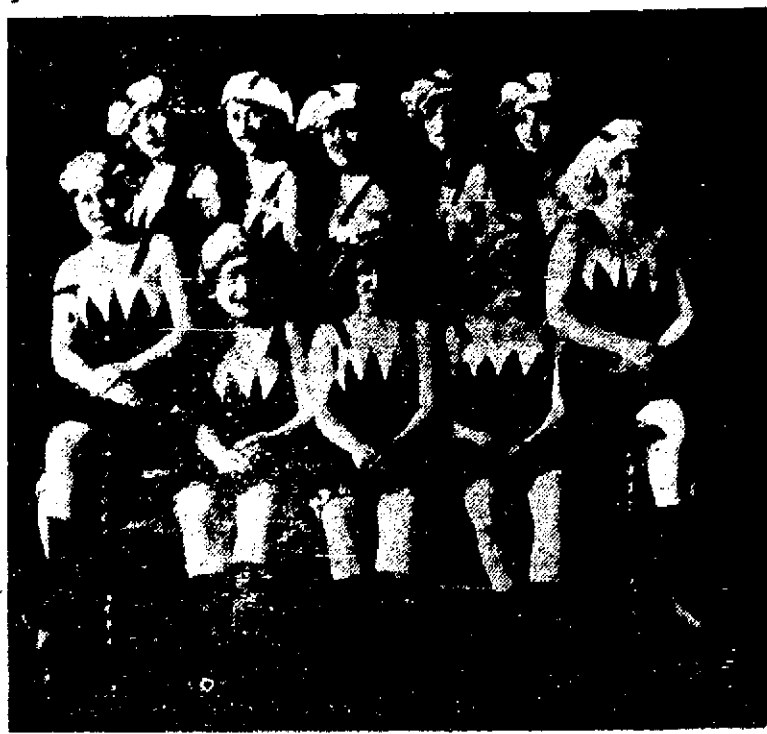

At the Lenox Theatre, which is a diminutive playhouse devoted to original entertainment, a children's theatre movement was launched by Nancy Van Kirk, a pleasing singer and story teller, who offered a program of interest and originality. Miss Van Kirk is not unknown to the little playgoers of this city, and to quite a number of the older ones as well. Her program was based upon the history of the country, beginning with the Puritan period and continuing to the Civil War period. There appears to be a real interest in this movement for the establishment of a chain of theatres for children, and Miss Van Kirk's contribution has been largely responsible for it.

This week several plays come in which have long been hovering in and about the white lights of Broadway. "The Girl from Home," and "The Honey Girl" are among them and another, said to be fascinatingly interesting is "Not So Long Ago." "The Purple Mask" is closing, and "The Acquittal" has seen the last of Broadway. The two chief plants from the horticultural garden, "The Passion Flower" with Nance O'Neill and "Alo Blossoms" are being transplanted, the latter this week and the former next week. Miss O'Neill will begin a trans-continental tour in the powerful Spanish drama, which has been one of the outstanding dramatic plays of the season. It has scored 200 performances in New York.

The regular musical season has closed in New York, which means that some of the most interesting events are yet to be heard. Frederick Warren, who has devised a group of ballad concerts, gives his fifth and final at Aeolian Hall this week, with four assisting artists. This series has been unusually successful and interesting, and opens a chance for its continuation next year. Mr. Warren himself is a distinguished musician, bearing an enviable reputation in the United States and the principal foreign cities.

Rachel Martin Butler, who adapted "Alice in Wonderland" for the stage to be used as the first of her children's repertoire, finds this play so successful that already its engagement has been twice extended. Mabel Taliferro plays Alice charmingly and Elizabeth Patterson, as the Queen of Hearts, has scored an artistic triumph.

"The Blue Devil" will be presented for the first time on tour next week with Lou Tellegen. Augustus Thomas is the author and Ruano Douglas is a colorful member of the cast.

One of the choice bouquets of beauties from the garden of feminine flowers with "The Love Doctor", the full-sized musical comedy company at the Orpheum all next week, starting Monday and changing Thursday.

VAUDEVILLE

ORPHEUM—Leona La Mar, "The Girl With the Thousand Eyes," who has proved the greatest theatrical sensation of the year at the Orpheum theatre, concludes her engagement as the biggest single attraction of the season at that playhouse at the matinee this afternoon and two shows tonight. Miss La Mar, at every performance thus far at the Orpheum, has amazed her audience by giving information upon subjects and advice as to leading matters of which she could not possibly have had previous information. Miss La Mar has answered this query, "prejudged to her and the information she has given has proven startling in many instances."

Supporting Miss La Mar on the program, concluding its engagement tonight, are five other acts of splendid merit. These are Calo, S. Smith & Co. in "Just for Instance," a playlet of continuous laughter; Soyent & Soyent in a beautifully staged melange of birth and melody; Monetti & Belle, comedy piano accordionists; extra-dinary Brown & Kelly, in a stage and dancing novelty of delight; Amanda Grey, singing comedienne.

In addition to Miss Leona La Mar and these five big time acts of vaudeville, a first run feature play of six reels will be shown today.

NEW MANAGER OF REGENT THEATRE

R. F. EMIG.

"Several improvements" are to be made in the Regent Theatre, according to announcement of W. S. Butterfield, president and general manager of the Butterfield circuit, which operates the Regent, who arrived in the city a few days ago with R. F. Emig, the Regent's new manager.

Arrangement have been completed, Butterfield announces for a complete symphony orchestra of not less than ten pieces starting at the matinee Sunday and continuing every evening thereafter. A number of big productions are to be booked for showing within the near future. Redecorating and renovating are to be a part of the improvements planned for the Regent.

Emig has proved one of the most successful managers of the Butterfield corporation. He has managed some of the biggest and best theatres operated by the corporation in New York.

"EVERYWOMAN" AT FAUROT

Stage Play to Be Presented on the Screen Four Days—Other Theatres.

BY ESTHER WAGNER.
WITH real tragedy, concentrated comedy, straight drama and special features on the program for next week, the photoplay managers promise entertaining films at all picture houses. The super-attraction comes in the form of "Everywoman" which will be shown at the Faurot theatre for four days, starting Sunday. The story is familiar to most lovers of drama. It has been produced on the stage in an elaborate manner, but the scenery in the screen production far outshines that of the stage play. Clara Horton, Wanda Hawley, Bebe Daniels, Margaret Loomis, Edith Chapman, Theodore Roberts, Monte Blue, James Neill and a host of others comprise the unusually strong cast.

Another feature of equal importance comes to the Regent for four days starting Wednesday where will be presented Norma Talmadge in "The Woman Giver," a first National attraction. As Ina Souderson, artist and artist's model, she is superbly beautiful. John Halliday and Edmund Lowe have the most important masculine roles.

"Polly of the Storm Country" is the alluring title of today's Regent attraction. Mildred Harris Chaplin plays the leading role and is assisted by Kewey Johnson and other capable actors. The picture deals with the troubles of a settlement of squatters and shows Mrs. Chaplin at her best.

Lionel Barrymore is coming to the Faurot on Thursday in the "Copperhead," in which he was starred on the legitimate stage last season, and which showed to a capacity house here. The engagement of this picture is for three days.

Blaine Hammerstein has the leading role in the Strick special "The Shadow of Rosalie Byrnes," playing at the Lyric today. Miss Elaine has a dual role in the picture and is just as charming as ever. J. Warren Kerrigan comes in the Lyric this week in "The Gambler."

The Orpheum today features Harry Morey in "The Gambler," while at the Bialto will be seen Rex Beach's "The Girl From Outside."

Harold Bell Wright's popular novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills," will be featured at the Royal theatre for three days, starting Wednesday.

This week's bill contains more serial features than have been seen here in a single week for some time.

FAUROT—This week the Faurot will present its third and fourth serial attractions, "Everywoman" and "The Woman Giver," which opens its four day engagement this afternoon. It will be followed on Friday by Lionel Barrymore in "The Copperhead."

The Lyric place play, "Everywoman," is so well known to Lima theatregoers that it seems superfluous to give any more to its commendation. It has played three engagements at the Lyric and on each occasion has tested the capacity of the theatre. There is probably no attraction here the past season that has been so universally popular.

Being familiar with the story of the play, which is extremely simple, yet full of the most interesting features, it is necessary only to dwell upon the fact that "Everywoman" is a play that has been seen by thousands of people over the speaking stage, never was more strikingly shown. The most like scenes with which the play abounds have been extended and produced with a profusion of settings, costumes and ensembles that will amaze you. Hundreds of extra people, supernumeraries, dancing girls and figurantes are used in the production, and the keynote of the whole is beauty. For it is agreed that no picture so sumptuous has ever been produced. And the cast, The News passes that up to its readers and their knowledge of who's who in the film world for "Everywoman" has the advantage of one of the most amazing ensembles of screen celebrities ever grouped in one picture. Here it is:

Young	Volat Heming
Young	Clara Horton
Beauty	Wanda Hawley
Modesty	Margaret Loomis
Consideration	Mildred Reed
Truth	Edith Chapman
Vice	Bebe Daniels
Wealth	Theodore Roberts
Victory	Monte Blue
Passion	Irving Cummings
Snobbery	Raymond Roberts
Chatter	Lucien Littlefield
Bluff	Noah Berry
Staff	Tully Marshall
Age	Robert Brower
Time	James Neill
Location	Fred Huntley
Antagonist	Clarence Gledhill

The "Copperhead," which comes to the Faurot on Thursday for a three-day engagement, is another play that we have seen on the stage in the Faurot and which has been a success in the past. It is the story of a man who, in the role of Milt Shankle, now we are to have at the Faurot, and with all the extraordinary advantages which screen and camera afford.

The "Copperhead" is by Augustus Thomas, America's most distinguished dramatist. Its production in New York City two years ago took the town by storm, for which Lionel Barrymore's superb acting was largely responsible. His extended experience in motion pictures makes him amply able to transfer his great characterization to the screen, and when aided by the Faurot management and artistic advisers, we may expect even more of a triumph in the film version of "The Copperhead" than we enjoyed when Mr. Barrymore was seen on the stage of the theatre. The picture is a splendid comedy, and all packed for their adaptability to the peculiar tastes in the play.

LYRIC—Blaine Hammerstein in "The Shadow of Rosalie Byrnes" brings to the screen one of the best known works of fiction ever published in book form. The novel of the same name by Grace Smithe Mason lends itself admirably to screen adaptation and gives Miss Elaine the opportunity to display her exceptional talent. There is always an element of interest that attaches itself to an actress playing a dual role. Elaine does this admirably in "The Shadow of Rosalie Byrnes," and provides proof that her country-wide reputation as an actress is well deserved.

She is twice, Leontine and Leona Madden. Leontine is the incarnation of selfishness and absolutely without honor. Leona possesses all womanly virtues. The two are constantly crossing each other's path, and their talking resemblance adds zest to their lives. Most of the time Leontine gets the best of her sister, in fact, she does because nothing is too sordid for her to make use of to attain her ends. However, Leona comes in for her share of happiness.

The story, technically, is of a very high order. The plot, something really new as plots go, is well-handled, and the element of suspense well sustained to a satisfying climax.

A two reel comedy completes the program of pictures.

the "carrying possibilities of life and can listen to the wind, nature's only voice, as it sings to him the song of ideas, of beauty and of strength. His message he transmits to the people about him. He does not preach the gospel of good but adds its commandments. As a result he brings peace where there is war, forgiveness where there is a spirit of revenge, love where there was hate. Through this play there is no effort at sermonizing yet as a result it shows things that are really big and worth while. It gives the lesson that fundamental principles of rights and ideals, that sometimes seem to remain in the concrete things of life must in the end triumph. That only truth, nature and beauty can remain in the survival of the fittest. Truly great subject matter for a photo-play and one well worth seeing.

ROBERT—With so famous a character as Mildred Harris Chaplin to enact the leading role of "Polly of the Storm Country," which opens a three-day engagement today at the Regent, it will be one of the most talked-of productions of the season. Mrs. Chaplin, you know, is a native of Wyoming and her step from horse-back on the range is one of the most notable ones. The picture tells how a simple little girl from a humble square cabin can remain in the face with the holding in her power of the life and happiness of the wealthy "hill-toppers" who mistreated her. A poignant thought in "Polly of the Storm Country."

As Polly Hopkins, Mrs. Chaplin is seen in surroundings that threaten to throttle the strong love for life and humanity which she has instilled in her heart as a child. Her mother, the brother-in-law is torn from the side of his wife and new-born babe, her father is jailed on a false charge and finally the authorities are sent to take from her, little crippled Jerry, her tiny brother. It is then that hate is implanted in her heart where love once ruled. And an entire community becomes spellbound under the terrible torture that Polly endures for the woman who betrayed her faith. But that torture never inflicted for a loveliness diffuses the clouds above storm country, and the rainbow of peace and contentment is discovered.

Little Miki Moore as Wee Jerry, Polly's crippled brother, did some wonderful work and the others in the cast are all splendid, including Emory Johnson, Harry Northrup, Maurice Vainona, Charles West and Charlotte Burton.

MAJESTIC—The thrill of big dramatic moments that throbs with human emotions, has been achieved in "The Broken Butterfly," the Maurice Tourneur production released by Robertson-Cole as a special at the Majestic Sunday and Monday.

The picture is a dramatization of the story Marcene, written by Panelope Knapp, which created a sensation. Marcene is a character that appeals to the sympathies. The pathos of the virgin-hearted girl who gave all to the man she loved, was branded as a scarlet woman by a narrow-minded and bigoted woman who tried to brutalize her sensitive nature and break her spirit, and was driven to attempt self-destruction, is overwhelming.

One of the most intense and complicated situations conceivable is achieved when the father of her child, believing she is dead, returns with his wife, her own sister, and learns that Marcene is still alive. He does not tell Marcene that he is married, torn with love and pity for the unfortunate girl, determined to right the wrong he has done and give his child a name, he asks his wife to make the sacrifice of his love to interpret the remarks of the woman in the play, but when the woman announces her engagement, he tells her "What are you giving away the heart of his 'dead'?" The story is really amusing touches, which Director Roy Malt Barkor has cleverly brought out. You know Rex Beach; you know Goldwyn; and you know the up-to-date in pictures—do be sure to see "The Girl From Outside."

REAR—In "The Girl From Outside," a new Rex Beach production made for Goldwyn, at the Bialto theatre today is a picture of good clean comedy to be found.

Dear Mike, played cleverly by Walter Macadam, is a character that creates a number of amusing situations, like a number of what he wants to, and in one instance June secures an ear from

The Mystery of the Thirteenth Floor

CHAPTER XI
MORGAN LEADS TRUMPS

Mr. Graves sat in his office, tilted back in a swivel chair, his feet on his desk. As he smoked a long black cigar, he had the look of a man at ease, but his brow was furrowed with thought. So far, the mystery surrounding the death of James Randolph Stone seemed as far from solution as ever, in spite of the fact that he had two good leads. In his mind he went carefully over the counts against young Stone.

"The finding of the cigarette stumps with the monogram 'J. R. S.' count one," he mused.

"The cuff link admitted to be just like the one he lost—count two—quarry. Who has the other pair exactly like them? Make a note to find that out if possible."

His overmastering horror at the sight of his uncle's body—count three. But was it guilty fear, or only a constitutional disgust at the sight of blood as he said? Not likely to be that in one off is ysis and temperament.

"His reticence in regard to his luncheon companion who might have proved an alibi for him unless it was, indeed, he who had waited for three-quarters of an hour more or less, on the landing of the fire escape. Waited for what? What better place could there have been for the man who lured his time to strike that fatal blow?"

"He is a large beneficiary by his uncle's will—the one old Greger found in the safe dated eighteen-ninety-six—but so and to a like extent, is Chester Morgan. Both of the young men admit having known about this will. Young Stone had seen it, and probably Morgan had also."

"Stone's mother is a wealthy woman, as I have taken pains to find, but there has been some gossip recently as to the possibility of her re-marriage."

For some time he considered this lead in all its aspects. The evidence was strong, but not strong enough. It had all been submitted to the coroner's jury and the case against Stone could not be re-opened without fresh evidence. Jackson, the man who had been reported that Stone had led him the devil of a dance, but that he had seen nothing suspicious in his conduct further than that. And yet so strong was Graves in his preconceived idea he felt sure that sooner or later Stone would betray himself.

Then there was Hamilton Calvert. Why had he rented the office next door to that of the man he had such a deep reason to hate? And there was the story of the loss of the dagger from his collection, a plan dagger not easily recognized as a collection piece except by an expert. The description of it fitted the weapon found driven through the body of James Randolph Stone. His daughter, evidently, hadn't the slightest suspicion. Could the improbable story her father had told her to account for its loss possibly be true?

What had made the marks in the dust on the floor of the office Calvert had so lately rented.

Graves thought long over this collection of evidence. Even granting the will to commit the murder and the weapon, how had the deed been accomplished from that adjoining room? The window of Mr. Stone's office had been open at the top, but it was more than twenty feet distant from the window in Calvert's room and there was no possibility of entering by way of it.

There was the communicating door; but it was blocked with books which apparently had not been disturbed and which surely could not have been taken out of their places and put back in the few seconds that Stone had been alone.

Would it have been possible in four or five seconds for Calvert to slip down the hall and into the adjoining room, dash the whole length of the room without touching anything, and without a sound, stab his unresisting victim and return or pass out to the elevator or rush down the fire escape? He was a man no longer in the prime of life—as old as Graves in fact, or older.

The telephone-bell on his desk office, measuring it with his keen glance. "At least twice the length of this room," he thought, "and he had to go and come."

He rose, laid his watch on the desk, looked at it carefully, and dashed madly back and forth, twice across the room. "Eight seconds," he said, referring to his watch "and through unobstructed space. No, this was certainly done by a young man, a man fast on his feet with steady nerves and the strength of an ox, just such a man as—"

The telephone-bell on his desk thudded. He took off the receiver and put it to his ear. "Yes, this is Graves' office—yes, Graves speaking." A pause. "Yes, Mr. Morgan, hang on. I'll be right up. Be there in half an hour. Good by."

He caught up his hat and coat and put them on as he dashed into the street. He lifted a passing taxi and within the time specified he was knocking at the door of Chester Morgan's apartment. The incommunicable Watkins admitted him and ushered him into the library.

Morgan rose to receive him. He had been sitting at a table on which stood a heavy decanter, a siphon, and some glasses. One of the last had already been in use. He was very pale and his hair was slightly disordered, but his voice was smooth and quiet as he addressed the detective.

"It's good of you to come so quickly, Mr. Graves," he said. He held out his hand to the detective, who shook it warmly. "May I ask you to have something?" He pointed to the tray at his side.

"Nothing, thank you," said Graves. "I'll smoke, if I may."

"Certainly, try one of these. I never smoke them myself, but my friends seem to like them." He opened a handsome humidor and Graves selected the largest and blackest cigar he could find. Morgan helped himself to a cigarette.

"If you don't mind, I'll have a small drink myself. I've had a hard day and don't feel quite up to the mark. Morgan measured out what could only be counted as a small drink and seated himself opposite his companion.

"It is very painful for me to tell you what I feel I must tell you," Mr. Graves began. "I have been thinking it over and worrying about it ever since I heard of my dear uncle's death. I haven't slept at all. His blood has seemed to cry out to me for vengeance, and I can't bear it no longer."

The detective bent forward with staid attention. Morgan wiped the sweat from his forehead and the palms of his hands before he continued.

"I have gone over the evidence produced at the inquest and that of my own senses, and there is no possibility of doubt in my mind as to who committed that dastardly murder."

Again he paused and the eyes of the detective were on those of a hawk followed his every movement. He cleared his throat and resumed.

"The night before my uncle's death I was working late at the office, dictating to one of the stenographers. We had come back after dinner. I mean I had come back and she also had returned at my request. We had been busy for some time over papers that I had to use in a case the following day. It must have been ten o'clock when I heard my uncle's private door open and close and the sound of voices. That door between my room and the office was open and as Mr. Stone was always very angry if his privacy was disturbed or interrupted in any way, I thought it best to turn out the light. I cautioned the young woman to be very quiet so as not to annoy my uncle."

He took a long draught of the golden liquid in the tall glass before he went on. "At first I could hear only the sound of voices, my uncle's and one other. Then I distinctly heard the words, 'You need a whim and I will buy it no longer.' The voice was that of my cousin, James Stone. Then I heard my uncle say something about phylandering after a penniless girl. James replied hotly that he had never phylandered after anybody, that he had respected his uncle's wishes in every way, but that he was a grown man and proposed to lead his own life from that time forward. Then followed a long, unimportant conversation of which I could not guess the subject, though both voices sounded angry. At last I heard my uncle say very loudly and distinctly, 'If you do I give you a word of honor that I will make a new will to-morrow and destroy the one which I have made dividing my estate between you and Chester Morgan.' James replied that he could destroy and be damned. Then there was the sound of a chair overturned and James cried furiously, 'Uncle, you must be mad!' and the old man's steel clattered to the floor."

Morgan drew a long breath and again wiped his face with his hands. The detective's eyes never moved from the young man's face.

"After that there was an intense silence and then James said in a low voice, but so distinctly that I heard every word. 'You hate me as much as I hate you, uncle. I think I have always known it, though you used to be kinder to me when I was a boy. You have done so much evil that you hate everything that is decent. There is murder in your eyes, where you stuck at me just now and there is murder in my heart, so I think you could have done it to the white on my wall, for what you have said and done this night and all these years I shall hate you to the hour of your death which may come soon and cannot come too soon for me.' Then I heard the door slam and in a hurry started for a long time before he too left the office."

The two men stared at each other for a long moment. Then Morgan added, "The stenographer who was with me heard every word. She would corroborate in a detail of the conversation as I have repeated it."

"And her name?"

"Estelle Daudray."

"The young woman who was with Wilson when the body was discovered?"

"The same."

"A pretty complete case, taken in connection with the previous evidence, Mr. Morgan—a bitter quarrel, a threat of disinheritance which we know your uncle endeavored to carry out as he promised, and a counter threat of murder. You have made a great sacrifice in the cause of justice, sir, and I shall apprehend your uncle's murderer tonight."

Morgan turned still paler than he had been, if that were possible, but he did not falter. "The cause of justice is sacred, Mr. Graves, and I am to blame in having hesitated so long."

"A natural feeling and one that does you credit, Mr. Morgan. Personally, I thank you for the help you have given me, and I wish you a very good night."

It was a far from good night that Chester Morgan spent as he tossed restlessly on his bed. Toward dawn he rose and, opening his bureau drawer, searched through it for the fourth or fifth time. The cat's-eye cuff-link was not there and its loss still troubled him deeply.

CHIROPRACTIC

THE BETTER WAY TO HEALTH

Eliminates the Cause of Disease

The Cause of Your Disease is pressure on nerves due to a displaced vertebrae in the spine. These nerves govern every action of every organ and tissue within your body; and when these nerves become pressed upon the muscles lose their strength, organs become paralyzed, and mind befogged.

How the Cause is Corrected

By scientific, harmless effective spinal adjustments such as I use the pressure on the nerves is removed and in 98% of my cases health is the result.

LET US TEACH YOU HOW TO INVEST YOUR MONEY WISELY
Four men in Texas three years ago were as poor as any reader of this advertisement. Today all of them are millionaires. Why? Because of the fact they used their own judgment and did not listen to the doct's of their friends. These four men are now in partnership and control one of the strongest oil corporations in the world. They have paid all their shareholders 100% on their investment and are now about to declare another dividend. This corporation is not just a paper company, well, they now have them. An additional rusher was added to the list only a week ago. Write for the most valuable information as to how you should invest your money costs but the effort to and use your name and address. Our advertising department will cheerfully give information on any question regarding oil investment. Shares, loans, or royalty. State amount of money you could invest and receive the most expert advice how and where to place it with safety and profit. Special inducement to salesmen, Deedemona Oil and Refining Co., Houston, Texas. Houston Life Insurance Co., Dallas, Texas.

We Have One to Fit Your Family

- $5800—New, six rooms, bath, furnace, hardwood floors, fifteen minute walk to court house. A home that is a real one. Main Ave.
- $4000—Seven rooms and bath. This is not a new house but a good one. It is close in and a bargain. It's on West.
- $3500—Five room bungalow, modern except furnace. Large lot. 50x180—alley on side. Plenty of nice fruit trees, a dandy large garden spot; house is fine new. Buy this and cut the high cost of living—tree is paved—five blocks to Main St. Located on McPherson Ave.
- $2000—Five rooms, cottage—good condition. A nice little home for the man with a moderate income. Located on North Jackson St.
- $2800—Six rooms, newly painted, new front porch, paved street—close to shops. Located on West Vine St. A good home for the shop man.
- $2400—Five rooms, large lot, close to all shops. A comfortable home and priced right. Located on Arch Ave.
- $5750—Eight rooms, strictly modern, oak floor. Located in the best residence district of West Lima near South Jackson Ave. This is an exceptional buy.
- $4500—Six rooms, strictly modern, large lot, lots of fruit trees in rear; beautiful surroundings. A chance to get a home at before war prices. Located on Richie Ave.
- $5200—Six rooms—modern—hardwood floors. A nice home on North Baxter.
- $8750—Brand new, six rooms, hardwood floors throughout; breakfast room, sun parlor, buffet and book cases built in. The last word in home construction. Surrounded by other homes of this type in the heart of West Side's best rental district.
- $2100—Four room cottage, practically new, electric lights, water and gas. Located in a good neighborhood; on So. Main St. A cozy little home.

EVERY TEN YEARS you throw away a home. Why throw away another? You don't have to wait ten years to own one—you can start today.

How Can I Save Money?

Wise buying means economy.

The way to buy wisely is to read the advertisements in The Lima News & Times-Democrat.

—because advertised products are good products.

—because merchants tell you of their bargains thru advertisements in The Lima News & Times-Democrat.

—because almost every new opportunity is offered thru an advertisement in this paper.

—because practically every unusual buy is advertised in this paper.

—because you save time and trouble by choosing what you want and where to get it from these advertisements instead of hunting all over town.

How can I save money? By reading the advertisements in The Lima News & Times-Democrat.

Not today only.

But every day.

You'll save money by keeping up with every opportunity to get full value in buying—by reading the advertisements in The Lima Daily News & Times-Democrat regularly.

Every Wednesday

MUTT AND JEFF—A MEAN TRICK ON MUTT'S PART, WE CALL IT—

THREE DIVORCE DECREES GRANTED

Pleas of Two Wives and One Husband for Separation Are Granted.

Judge William Klinger heard four divorces Saturday and granted three decrees on grounds of desertion.

Ray W. Berry was divorced from Beatrice Berry, whose last known residence was 443 Hazel-ave on the grounds of desertion. Mrs. Berry made no defense. They were married in Findlay in May, 1913.

Mrs. Frances Wehner was given a divorce from Frank Wehner, on the grounds of desertion. Wehner did not make any defense. They were married in South Bend, Ind., in February, 1910. Neither couple have any children.

Carlton C. Morritt was awarded a decree from Blanche Morritt for desertion. Her last known residence was in Cambridge, Ohio. They have lived separate since July, 1904, he told the court. They have a daughter of 13 years who is with her mother. They were married 20 years ago, in Akron.

The case of Mrs. Mary Snyder against Ralph Dale Snyder was heard and taken under advisement. Snyder was not present in court, to contest the case. She charged he brought a man and two loud women to her home to stay over night in carousal. She also charged he was absent from home nearly every night, gambling and drinking. They were married in Lima in April, 1912.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to announce our thanks to all of the relatives, friends and neighbors for the beautiful flowers and kindness and to singers and also to Rev. Barnes, of Toledo, O., and Rev. Clegg, of LaFayette, O., for their consoling words thru the sad death of our husband and father.

(Signed) Mrs. John Hamm and Children.

THANKFUL

Thankful He Found Something That Would Help. Nerv-Worth Did The Work

"Before I purchased a bottle of Nerv-Worth from you I was in a bad nervous condition said J. C. Hizer, 224 N. Robert Boulevard, Dayton. Could not digest or assimilate my food and was becoming weak and very much run down. After eating my heart would flutter and intermit and I became very much alarmed. For a year I subsisted on soup. Could not eat anything. Gas formed in my stomach and I would bloat badly and my stomach was sore and painful. Many nights I could not sleep but lay awake all night. Had severe headaches and rheumatic pains in legs and arms. Now after using three bottles of Nerv-Worth I am rid of all the ailments mentioned and am regaining my strength and vigor. The doctors failed to help me in the least. I am thankful that I tried Nerv-Worth."

What it did in this case is but one of millions of successful things that it has done. For many years the results given by Nerv-Worth have been vouched for by millions of satisfied users all over the country. It has stood the test of years. For young and old it is unequalled. Get a bottle today. Sold and guaranteed by Butler's, Main and Kibby; The Central, Main and High; Everybody's, Main and Vine; Hunter's, 49 Public Square, and all leading druggists.

YOUR SUMMER OUTING

START TO PLAN IT NOW. There is a lot of joy in dreaming about when and where you will go, who goes with you and what you will wear.

A STURDY little sports suit for traveling and knockabout. An inexpensive silk frock to save laundry. A cool organdie or georgette for dancing. Possibly a skirt or a waist is needed to get you ready.

THEN COME TO US. We've had just the best time getting ready for your summer. We have dreamed with you about your clothes. Now they're here.

Thus, you could get them 'most anywhere if you would accept 'most anything. But you like little touches of distinction about your things, don't you.

All the while, too, we have kept in mind the awful H. C. and in spite of it we have gotten together a splendid lot of smart summer wearables at moderate prices.

-LUBRICANTS-

We claim to be informed on all questions of lubrication. Our Chemical Engineer and Laboratory are at your service.

Be a friend to your motor. Use "GLENCO" Oil. Used and recommended by many of the leading motor car builders.

Many tractors are mighty hard to lubricate. If you are having trouble—use Glenmore Tractor Oil. They all say it's good.
